10. Genesis 6:1-13
11. Genesis 7:11-24

15. Genesis 11 (God did not want us all to speak Hebrew. Also here is where he seperated nation how he wanted them. He actually did not want us living all together like we do in these modern day babylon colonies. The aliens created our languages. Latter part of chapter deals with the Seed of the Hebrews.)
16. Genesis 50:24 (Seed of the Israelites)
17. Exodus 1:1-7 (Bloodline goes through father to son. The Y chromosome is one of two sex chromosomes (allosomes) in mammals, including humans, and many other animals. The other is the X chromosome. Y is normally the sex-determining chromosome in many species, since it is the presence or absence of Y that typically determines the male or female sex of offspring produced in sexual reproduction. In mammals, the Y chromosome contains the gene SRY, which by default triggers male development. The DNA in the human Y chromosome is composed of about 59 million base pairs.[5] The Y chromosome is passed only from father to son. In human genetics, the Y-chromosomal most recent common ancestor (Y-MRCA, informally known as Y-chromosomal Adam) is the most recent common ancestor (MRCA) from whom all currently living men are descended patrilineally. The term Y-MRCA reflects the fact that the Y chromosomes of all currently living human males are directly derived from the Y chromosome of this remote ancestor. The analogous concept of the matrilineal most recent common ancestor is known as "Mitochondrial Eve" (mt-MRCA, named for the matrilineal transmission of mtDNA), the most recent woman from whom all living humans are descended matrilineally. As with "Mitochondrial Eve", the title of "Y-chromosomal Adam" is not permanently fixed to a single individual, but can advance over the course of human history as paternal lineages become extinct.)As current estimates on TMRCA converge with estimates for the age of anatomically modern humans and well predate the Out of Africa migration, geographical origin hypotheses continue to be limited to the African continent. According to Cruciani et al. 2011, the most basal lineages have been detected in West, Northwest and Central Africa, suggesting plausibility for the Y-MRCA living in the general region of "Central-Northwest Africa" Scozzari et al. (2012) agreed with a plausible placement in "the north-western quadrant of the African continent" for the emergence of the A1b haplogroup. The 2013 report of haplogroup A00 found among the Mbo people of western present-day Cameroon is also compatible with this picture. So the original man was the Afro-Asiatic Blackman)

18. Hebrews 7:5-11
19. Ezra 2:59-62 (You are what your father is)
20. Nehemiah 7:61
21. Numbers 1:1-4
22. Leviticus 24:10 (Israelitish or Israelitess is a female Israelite. It is strong's hebrew H3482 and the feminine version of H3481 (Israelite, which is also used in this verse for Children of Israel). If you notice in this passage it lets you know that his father was an Egyptian. Then it says he went out among the children of Israel and fought a man of Israel. It differentiates between him and the Israelites because his father was an Egyptian. Therefore he was not considered an Israelite. His mother was but he was not. If you read further in this passage it even tells you his mother's pedigree showing you she was an Israelite. Verse 11 gives you her father's name and that she was of the tribe of Dan. The bloodline goes through the father. Science may say you have some of your mother's dna but for bloodline/nationality purposes the Bible is clear you are what you father is.)
23. Acts 16:1-3 (Timothy's father was a Greek so in Biblical terms he was a Greek.)
24. Romans 16:20-22 (Timothy not referred to as Kinsmen.)

36. Matthew 13:24-32 (These two parables are referring to the nation of Israel. The Aliens will separate the tares [mulattoes, non-paternal Israelites, etc..] from the wheat [Israelites proven by pedigree]. This means there will be darkskin people who do not make the cut sometimes and light near white who may make the cut. Food for thought.)
