About KAA-MaCC

The Kannapolis African-American Museum and Cultural Center (KAA-MaCC) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit dedicated to preserving and promoting the rich cultural heritage and history of African-Americans in Cabarrus and Rowan Counties, North Carolina.

Since our founding in 2013 by Dr. Ruby L. Anthony-White, M.D., KAA-MaCC has served as a vital hub for education, cultural enrichment, community engagement, and historic preservation.

Our Mission & Vision

Mission:

To collect, preserve, and share the history, culture, and contributions of African-Americans in the Cabarrus-Rowan region through innovative programs, exhibitions, and community partnerships.

Vision:

To establish a permanent museum and cultural center that inspires learning, nurtures community pride, and serves as a beacon of African-American heritage and empowerment.

Impact & Community Reach

- Engages hundreds of community members annually through exhibitions, educational programs, and events.
- Partners with schools, churches, local organizations, and cultural institutions.
- Showcases stories and artifacts reflecting African-American history and contemporary achievements.
- Hosts signature events like the Women of a New Tribe photographic exhibition and the annual Hall of Fame Inductions.

Sponsorship Opportunities

Your support helps KAA-MaCC:

- Expand educational programs and public outreach.
- Develop and maintain exhibitions and cultural collections.
- Organize impactful community events and celebrations.
- Advance the Vision 2026 Initiative for a new museum and cultural center.

Sponsorship Benefits

When you sponsor KAA-MaCC, you receive:

- Recognition in event programs, on the website, and social media.
