Over the past 15+ years, Lindsay has dedicated her career to transforming workplace cultures, leaders, teams, and individuals. She has held progressively larger roles often in fast-growing companies in industries such as advertising, biotech, consumer products, and education. She most recently served as the Head of Talent Development and Inclusion at Kite Pharma, a Gilead company, and is now the Founder and CEO of Barnett Coaching, a boutique coaching and consulting firm.

Lindsay is creative and pragmatic, knowing the little things have power to make a big difference. Known for her positivity and high-energy style, clients generally walk away from sessions with Lindsay feeling more resourced in mind, heart, and body. Coaching clients appreciate the kind way Lindsay helps them challenge certain beliefs and patterns that may be holding them back from their desired goals and relationships. She helps her clients see their strengths and gifts to bring forth with confidence and empowerment. As a development expert, Lindsay also has a variety of tools to share with leaders for both their own use and to leverage with their teams.

Notable recent client achievements:

- Coached senior leaders to promotion within six months
- Coached business executive to lower stress levels and increase strategic focus
- Coached new law school grad to mitigate imposter syndrome resulting in longer contract and salary increase

Her areas of expertise include:

Executive & Leadership Coaching	Group and Team Coaching	Leadership & Manager Development	Cultural Transformation & Organization Development
Team Member Development & Individual Coaching	High Performing Teams & Cross-functional Teaming	Employee Engagement	Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Integration
