WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE LEARNER'S DAILY TUITION?

Home education is a legally recognised alternative to formal education in South Africa. It was legalised in 1996 and Section 51 of the South African Schools Act states that parents have the option to register their child with the Head of Department of a Provincial Education Department should they wish to educate their child at home. Read Mindscape's Legal Considerations page for a summary of the legal aspects surrounding home education.

As a home education parent, you can make use of a network of tutors or a tuition facility.

Mindscape Education has approved Subject Based Assessment Venues across the country where all learners can be hosted for formal assessments. These venues have competent markers and invigilators to facilitate Mindscape Education's assessments in accordance with the Assessment Policy and Procedures. Should your child be in the FET phase (Gr10 - 12) please visit our website to find a list of SBA Venues where exams can be written. Kindly list your choice below.
