Thanks to our outgoing officers Ken Carpenter, Jake Delgaudio, Lou Hall and Mike Bala (Assistant Director).

The Road Captains will be getting together soon to plan our 2018 Schedule. Anyone can lead a ride, so if you have a favorite ride, lunch, dinner or ice cream stop, join us & lead a ride! Rumor has it that quite a few old favorites will be back on the schedule as well as The Iron Adventure, & 115th H.D. Birthday celebration.

The Ladies of Harley sponsored a Chili Cook-off on Jan. 13. We had 7 great Chilis entered in the contest.

Third Place: Kathy Calhoun (left), Second Place: Alicia Thompson (middle), and First place: Donella Fisher (right). Check out Donella's winning recipe in this newsletter. Congrats everyone! Thanks to everyone who competed and attended. All proceeds benefitted our Christmas Families.

Sunday brunches are very popular again this year. The brunches can be found on the facebook events page, monthly newsletter and website events section.

That's it for now!

Hello ADK HOG! Two months have passed since our last meeting. I wanted to thank LouAnn and Mike Bala for running the Christmas & Awards Party. Sounds like everyone had fun! If you were not able to attend and are due a pin, we will have them at the chapter meeting. Donna and I flew to Kentucky to help celebrate our daughter Maria's wedding. We had a nice time during our quick visit.

Jill Hunt, Donna Persons and I shopped for the Chapter's Christmas Family after we returned home. Thanks Jill!

Kathy Calhoun, Doug Hudson, Tracy Stowell, Jill, Linda Nestuk, Donna and I wrapped gifts and ate dinner at Panera. After some grocery shopping, Donna delivered the goods to our Family. They were very happy with everything the Chapter did. Then we were off to Kentucky again for Christmas.

At our last meeting we held elections for our 2018 officers. I made some mistakes on the ballot.

Assistant Director and Safety Officer

by Brian Irwin

As we settle into another long northeast freeze, I would like to take a few moments as your newly elected Assistant Director and Safety Officer to pen a few thoughts. First and foremost, thank you for the opportunity to serve as an officer in this organization that I have come to believe is a very worthwhile and fun-loving group. Before joining HOG, I was previously active in other riding clubs, mostly military or veteran oriented. What I found intriguing with HOG was the only real common denominator and only goal of its members was "RIDE"; we ride, no matter what, we ride. We often ride for a purpose, whether we are supporting a local family, delivering toys, supporting a member who needs some help, or any other very noble cause. Another unique thing with HOG is our membership comes from different backgrounds, different lifestyles, and different beliefs. We bring together views and stories that vary from ride to ride. The only requirements needed; a Harley, a love of wind blowing in your face, and a willingness to enjoy the company of others while safely riding.

As for our goals for 2018, your Officers have already been at work arranging what we hope will be another great riding season. We have been working closely with the staff at McDermott's HD to make sure our group and our sponsoring dealership are on the same page when it comes to keeping this organization a great group which will be around for us, and our children to enjoy, for years to come. With that in mind I have been working with Alise and Jay at McDermott's to come up with some ideas for recruitment of new members. With the restructuring of our web page, I hope to bring the next generation of Harley riders in. We have listened to our members and will be setting up a good number of rides this year to better suit our members who prefer either longer or shorter rides while still doing our best to provide fresh scenes. I hope to work with our dealership to get as many active members as possible into our group and plan to advertise what we are all about to that next generation of members by both word of mouth and social media.

I wanted to get a quick note out with regard to bike storage. For those of you who did not get your bike into storage yet, here are few quick tips before its too late. Make sure your bike is ready to roll as soon as mother nature lets us ride.

1. Top off the tank

After putting some fresh fuel in the tank, add the recommended amount of fuel stabilizer to keep the gas from deteriorating and leaving a brown layer of muck in your fuel system. Turn that baby on and let it run for a few minutes so the treated fuel can cycle through.

2. Fill up your fluids

Double-check your bike's brake, clutch, and coolant fluids, replacing or refilling if necessary. Remember to always use the type and amount of fluid recommended in your HD manual.

Since we live in a place where temperatures frequently reach sub-zero, if you have a bike that has coolant, check it to keep that engine from freezing. Lube up the throttle, kickstand, shifter, and clutch cables to prevent moisture accumulation and rust (but be careful not to get lube on the tires).

3. Oust old oil

Over time, a running engine's oil transitions from a clean, golden fluid to dirty, black muck. The contaminants in old oil can corrode engine parts and do some serious damage over the course of a few months. Change the oil and filter before storing your ride to avoid a sticky situation later on.

4. Conserve your battery's charge

Some motorcycles experience a slight battery drain (even when the ignition's off), in order to maintain things like your clock and radio presets. You can remove the battery from your bike altogether and trickle charge it all winter. Or, if you prefer to keep things in one package, you can store your bike with a fully-charged battery. If you choose the latter, just give the battery a charge once a month while it's not being used. Last choice, if your spouse will let you, you could just park your bike in the living room (not allowed in my house).

5. Tend to your tires

If you can store your bike with the tires off the ground, that's great. Taking the weight off your wheels is the ideal way to avoid flat spots or uneven wear. If you don't have the right setup for off the ground storage, fill your tires to the maximum recommended volume, and remember to rotate the tires once a week to keep the flat spots away.

6. Wax on, rust off

The metal on your motorcycle tends to accumulate moisture, which can cause rust if your bike is left unattended for an extended period. Washing, thoroughly drying, and then waxing your ride before putting it away for the winter will prevent corrosion and other damage. Spray your exhaust pipes with WD-40 to keep moisture and rust away. For extra protection, stuff a clean towel or some crumpled up plastic bags into the intake and exhaust pipes to keep water and critters out.

7. Pick a place for your ride to rest

Sunlight can damage leather and cause paint to fade, so if you have a window in your garage, try to park your motorcycle in a cool, dark corner. Go a step further with a fitted, breathable cover that'll prevent dings and scratches and protect your motorcycle from dust, grime, and moisture.

Tuck your bike in gently, and it will be ready to roll out of the garage and down the road in the spring.
