

Antennas

Technology has advanced since the original Declaration of Covenants and Restrictions was authored. Based on current technology that allows much smaller antennas, small antennas are permitted. Homeowners shall make every effort to place antennas at a location not visible from the street.