

Secret impressions and self images
The sun life collection
By Muntheru Shah aka Warner Shaw

A collection of poetry dedicated to humanity
With the name Allah, most gracious, the compassionate

Miseries, Mysteries & Memories
By Muntheru

Life, love and fertility
To express the joy and the pain of creation
To reach out and touch the universe
With an ever searching mind

To dream the unimaginable visions of paradise
As the infinite expanse of time
Consumes our humble thoughts of kindness

Born of passion with a quickening spirit
We struggle to live, to give, to die...
And never ever comprehend the vastness
Of that which has been conceived of good!

A frightening future
By Muntheru

A mother gives birth to her only daughter
In agony her womb bleeds.
A sacrifice to the world for too many ill deeds.

The angry face of black death looks from behind the wretched curtain of ignorance While the apathetic crowd roars like hungry herds being led blindly to slaughter!

In the twilight of misty morning
A lonely sage bids them farewell
After many vain attempts
At saving them from their torment in HELL.

Life a continuous struggle for Peace, Truth, Love of is it Freedom?
Whatever this phenomenon with all of its miseries and changes that seem to go on and on never ending is,
I must humbly say ... is Worth experiencing.

One must constantly pray for a selfless soul and spirit
Uncorrupted by temptation or even gold
Because the sacred human cause as become a powerless holy ghost
That hovers over the foul pit of mass degradation

While the Temples of human perfection
Are now nothing more than overpopulated graveyards Clutter of the relics of hollow parasitic crosses and cobweb covered tombstones.

As the newborn child of revelation peers into the dilated eye as of its forsaken mother...
The hopeless inmates of hell, the grievous inhabitants of purgatory,
And the worthless dredges of prison
Cry out,

"Here comes another" ...!

"My Love Is Real"
By Muntheru

I'd like to see you in the morning light after you've made wild passionate love throughout the night.

I like to see you frown
When you are mad
And the smile on your face
When you are glad

I want to see you all dressed up
To go out on the town,
or dirty and stinking
When you're feeling down.

I wish to know your every mood
Even in your solitude
I wonder what
Pleasant thoughts are passing through your mind

I long to be with you now
And in heaven
long after we're dead
I'll keep your memory
Whether you're near or far
And I love you as you are!

What is this all about?
By Muntheru

As we ride the wild tiger
The sky is undressed of rainbow colors in vivid array.

Fireflies dance in a luminous trance
While our naked bodies
With mingled sweat
Lay wrapped like pretzels
In love's romance.

Coupled together not by chance
East meets west
For the climactic tide

Of soothing incentive penetration,
of heart throbbing pulsation,
And rhythm motion
Harmonizing to nature's orgasmic ocean.

As the thick Royal Jelly of your honey covered hive of sleeping Bees
Slowly drip down into every crevice a crack
Revealing your glistening rosebud of passion,

I imagine the embryonic destinies yet to come...
Like the calm breeze that drives the waves of swelling surf to the rock laden shores...

My staff of life becomes erect
And rises for the divine mission to part the sea meant to be My final place of the rest.

The violent convulsions of ecstasy
Vibrate through our bodies
From the tips of our sensitive toes
To the ends of our delicate nose.

Like thunder I explode
The life giving essence of me into you
And like the pure rain is absorbed by the cultivated Earth you receive every drop with warm loving contractions while your ovulation occurs in perfect time to help meet our destiny...
It's about a BABY!