

Spiritual Uses of the Aloe Vera Plant

Spiritual Rejuvenator

Aloe vera has always been a popular herb amongst bush doctors and spiritual workers. The frequency vibration that aloe vera has is mystical. The main use of aloe vera is to re-calibrate the body's frequency system. This is done on a DNA level. It gets the body's cells to follow the normal instructions within the DNA. Aloe vera is used to turn off incorrect DNA instructions.

Mystics use aloe vera to turn off all the negative signals within the body. The powerful ingredient of aloe vera is organic germanium. This mineral is used by the body to reinforce the proper DNA signals. When there is an anomaly in the body, such as a cell reproducing abnormally, the body knows. However, the body may not have the power to overwhelm that cell and bring it back into the proper frequency vibration.

The organic germanium within the aloe vera provides the necessary instructions and building blocks for the immunity system to recalibrate itself and cancel out the negative vibration. Therefore, aloe vera is used to cure any disease. The electrolytic properties of aloe vera are also important. Sometimes the cells are having problems communicating with each other because they are not on the same wavelength (vibration). The magical use of aloe vera is to keep all cells on the same wavelength, so as to protect the integrity of DNA instructions.

There are some Rastafarian herbalist who uses only aloe vera to cure all sickness, even AIDS and cancer. I hope to master this method of healing within the next ten years. I have been studying for the past ten years and in the middle of my apprenticeship. Rastafarians and herbalists see the body as machinery that transports the spirit. The body is metaphysically intertwined in the spirit.

The body is a Ferrari transporting the soul, which is the driver. Therefore, it is important to overstand the role of the driver. From a spiritual perspective, it is revealed that the Ferrari needs certain maintenance and fuel to keep it working. It needs the lubricating oil, organic germanium. The twelve cylinders will not fire properly without this oil.

Whenever there is a decision to maintain the Ferrari to run properly and in-tune, this is a spiritual decision. If we listen to the frequency of our bodies, the voice inside will reveal that we need to recalibrate the Ferrari.

Whenever, there is a decision to keep driving the Ferrari when only 6 of the 12 cylinders are working, this is a non-spiritual decision (a dumb ego decision).

The spiritual use of aloe vera is to keep the cylinders firing on the same accurate levels. The DNA within our cells contains the correct instruction that was given from the spiritual self already.

The mystical use of the aloe vera is to bridge the communication gap between the driver and the Ferrari. We will look into some other ancient spiritual uses of aloe vera.

Mumification

The aloe vera plays a very important role in the afterlife. Within the ancient civilization of Egypt, it is used to help the soul journey into the afterlife. Aloe vera preserves the integrity of the physical body during life and death. It keeps the skin looking fresh for the living and strangely does the same for the dead. It contains properties that maintains the collagen of the skin and prevents the elasticity from becoming loose. This is one the functions of an embalming fluid.

The Egyptians and other similar cultures did not believe that the body would journey properly without first embalming the body with aloe vera. It was very important to maintain the dead body with the same frequency structure that the living body had. This was because, they believed that the same body would be used to journey in the afterlife. Therefore, you can see why it was important to maintain the same structural integrity of the body after death.

Another important factor which is not popular is preventing the soul and body from reincarnating with the same physical realm. It is believed that if the bodies were allowed to decay and enter again into the carbon cycle of the earth, the soul would not journey into the afterlife, but get stuck in the earth cycle again. For example, the soul would become soil, then a plant, then an animal, then finally human again. Therefore, the aloe vera and other herbs are used to bond the soul and prevent it from reintegrating with the earth again.

Mummification is based on the butterfly's cocoon phase. Death is when the body enters the cocoon phase. The spiritual use of the aloe vera is to seal the cocoon. This is important so that the soul can develop to journey the afterlife.

Spiritual Bath

Within Jamaican mysticism, the aloe vera is used to give spiritual baths. This has nothing to do with herbalism, this is strictly spiritual. In Jamaica, the ancient African science of obeah is still practiced. The word Obeah translates to the word balance, which is the same as the God, Baal. The spiritual use of aloe vera is used to ward off evil spirits. When there is a sickness within the body, it is believed that the body has been placed out of frequency by an invading spirit. This invading spirit causes multiple sicknesses that cannot be explained by western medical science.

Therefore, those who believe in Obeah will consult an Obeah man or mother woman (female practitioner). They will create a bath using aloe vera as one of the ingredients for the patient to bathe with order to block and ward off the evil spirits.

This method is also observed in other spiritual belief systems across the world. The common consensus is that aloe vera has the ability to block evil spirits. Due to fact that animals and insects that eat the dead are seen as evil spirits, it is reasoned that if the plant blocks those bacteria, insects and animals within the physical realm; it will block the spiritual manifestations of decay within the spiritual realm.

Aloe Vera Fasting

This fasting is normally used, when the person is on the brink of death and western medical science has failed. The body system is shot and death is imminent. The use of aloe vera here is to ward off the demon of death. It is normally done to buy time, in order to recalibrate the frequency of the body using a combination of other herbs from an herbalist point of view. From a spiritual point of view, it is used to keep the person alive long enough for spiritual prayer warriors to do their thing.

The fasting method works by eliminating or neutralizing toxins in the body. This helps to get the cells that were shut down by the toxins to start working again. The cells which have been killed by toxins are also poisoning the nearby cells. The aloe vera helps to build antibodies immediately to engulf these dead cells and neutralize them, so that neighboring cells are not affected.

Aloe Vera fasting also works for those who are not facing death, but it is normally used when conventional cures have failed. The fasting is only used for less than 12 hours, because aloe vera works really fast and is potent. Aloe vera fasting requires swallowing a small part of the plant every hour for the first 3-6 hours.

Zombie

Aloe vera is one of the secret plants (not secret anymore) used in zombism practiced within the voodoo occult. It is basically used in all necromancy based sciences. It is believed to be used also in the Xiangxi "hurrying corpse" magic. The magical use of aloe vera on dead bodies is believed to give the bodies strange electrolytic properties. The basic use is of course to prevent decay of the flesh. It is also used to ward off scavenger bacteria, animals and insects. Therefore, the zombie will stay life like as long as possible.

The electrolytic (electrical) properties of aloe vera give the sorcerer some level of control over the body. Within the scientific field of reanimation, aloe vera is also used. Reanimation has nothing to do with spiritualism. The dead is simply manipulated using electrical shocks to appear life like. There are many secret clandestine labs throughout the world that practice reanimation.

Review

Sorry if I scared you a bit. The spiritual uses of aloe vera are vast. There are many topics that I did not touch on. This is just some of the basic spiritual uses that I have observed (not practiced). I have also learned that some of the people who claim to be sorcerers are really herbalists who manipulate plants to get astounding results and then claim it to be magic.

It is the knowledge that we should unlock about these plants such as aloe vera in order to get the Ferrari running efficiently.
