

" Magic"

By Muntheru

Could this be magic? The way you came into my life.

Could this be magic? You took away all of my strife.

I know magic is something I don't understand.

it's like the sleight of hand...

Abracadabra, Presto, Alakazam, Vawallah!

You said the word BE...! now here I am!

The miracle of life is something grand.

What is magic? Is this magic? Is magic real?

You put me in paradise. It makes me feel so nice.

I saw it once. I saw it twice. What will I sacrifice?

Did you cast a spell by the wishing well when all of the demons fell into hell.

Is the magic in you a mystery that dispels all the misery?

Like the waters of faith from the Zam Zam Well true belief will never ever fail.

This is Al-Islam, from the Holy Quran the true message of God, Allah, the only one!

No mystique dream of psychic illusion.

The truth it brings takes away all the confusion.

Not magic, because the magic is not real.

If you do not believe your world is like a fading mirage...

There is real proof when you make the Hajj.

So, remember these things that I say to you about magic and the power of Allah.

The source of this you cannot see... It is a gift that will make you free

No magician Just Al-Ali

Meanings &Translations

1. Wallah = I swear/by God. والله Wallah literally means “I swear to God,” and it is sure to come up in conversation way more times than you can count. Wallah, I promise I'm not lying!

Abracadabra =I create as I speak

Tracing its roots back to the third century AD, abracadabra is believed to have originated from the ancient Aramaic language spoken in Mesopotamia where the phrase 'avra kedabra' was used, which translates to 'I create as I speak'.

Presto = "suddenly," or "super fast." Magicians love to yell presto! before a trick.

Zamzam =Miracle of Zamzam Water She called out and SubhanAllah saw Angel Jibreel where the Zamzam well now stands. Angel Jibreel had dug through the sand and unearthed a well of water. This water is known as Zamzam water as Hajar called out “Zom! Zom!” (Stop! Stop!) as the water kept following, in fear it would run out.

Alakazam = used as an invocation of magical power or to indicate an instantaneous transformation or appearance that occurs by or as if by magic