of state testing. In many states, adults can now earn their H.S. Equivalency Diploma by taking the High School Equivalency Test (HiSET) or the Test for Secondary Completion (TASC). Our program offers students both the GED and HiSET track, but students must reside in a state that offers either one or both of these test options.

Why Study Online

There are many benefits to students studying for their GED/HiSET exam online. These benefits included:

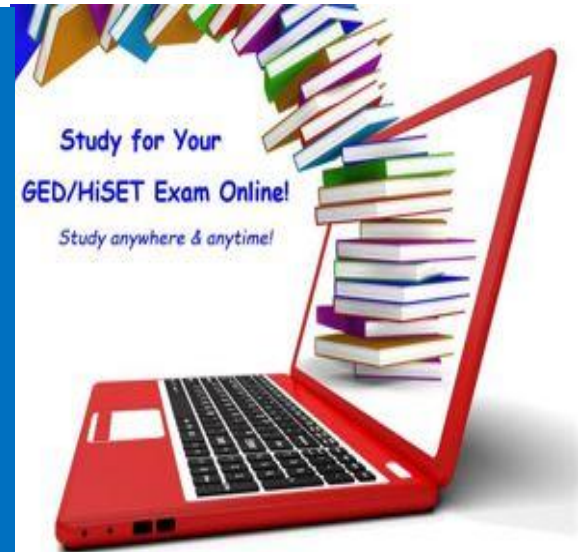

- Studying from the convenience of home or anywhere.
- No restricted environment.
- No transportation cost.
- 24/7 access to all coursework.

Meeting Students' Expectation

Last month, our students completed their student satisfaction survey. Out of the eight questions asked by students, students rated us highest in all categories. The questions asked by students centered on quality program (e.g. their level of comfort completing their coursework and the convenience of completing their coursework online); quality service (e.g. the level of support that they receive from our instructional team and the number of technical issues they experience); and lastly, students' overall satisfaction, which 100% of our student expressed complete satisfaction regarding their learning experience with us.

What's happening at YOURpath?

New and exciting things are continuing to take place at YOURpath.

- Last month, we had a slight increase in our enrollment. Again, we welcome our new students. Currently, our enrollment consists of 75% females, 25% males. 25% of our students are on the GED track and 75% on the HiSET track. Our students' ages range from 25 to 55.
- Last month, we implemented our first student satisfaction survey, and we are proud to announce that we were rated 100% by our students in "Student Satisfaction."
- Last month, the results from our student satisfaction survey were presented in our updated program overview and posted on our YouTube Channel for our students and the public.
- This month, we are implementing our first "Let's TALK Math" group instruction, where we intend to help build students' math skills and reinforce what they are learning in their personalized math lesson plans.
- Lastly, but not least, we have continued updating our students' learning resources on both our website (i.e. study guides) and YouTube Channel (i.e. instructional videos).
