The Next Step: Planning Beyond Your HS Credential

High school graduation is a milestone; it's a rite of passage into the next phase of life. It's a time when young adults reflect on what they have achieved and what lies ahead of them. However, oftentimes, the pathway after about their future after receiving their high school credential. While most of our students are already working adults, we aim to help them reposition themselves in the workforce by exploring better employment opportunities, whether it is to seek out job promotions, higher paying jobs, or

Test-Takers & Skills

Test-taking skills are an important aspect of effective testing. Students who are preparing to take their official exam this month should be sure to utilize the test-taking strategies that have been emphasized during one-on-one sessions, practice tests, and mini instructional lessons. These strategies will help them to effectively manage their time and narrow down their options for the best possible answer. To quickly review these skills, click here.

a career path through vocational training or college entry. During this phase, students learn how to:

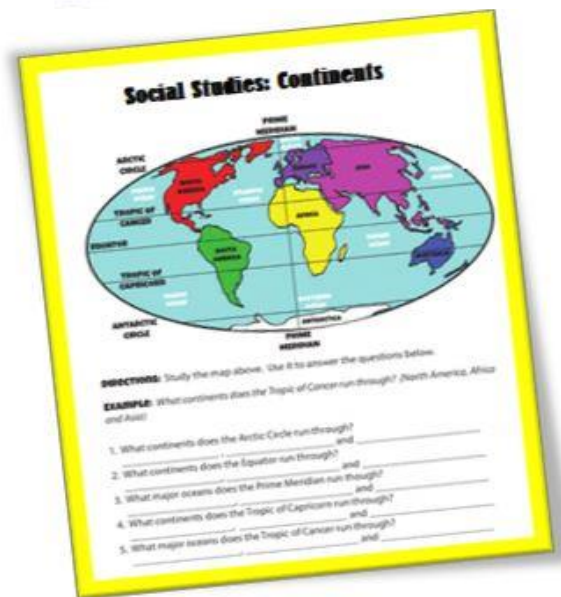

- Prepare their resume to market themselves.
- Effectively answer interview questions through coaching.
- research and apply to quality vocational/college institutions that align with their career aspiration; and
- Seek out and apply for financial assistance through grants and scholarships etc.

Content Resources: Strengthening Students' Content Knowledge

YOURpath students are fortunate to have access to personalized GED/HISET and TABE skills building courses. These courses help to build students' skill levels; however, we want to make sure that our students have a strong content-knowledge base per each subject area: math, science, social studies, reading, language arts, writing, and vocabulary. So, in addition to students' skills building courses, our students also have access to tons of content resource materials to ensure that they have the knowledge base to successfully pass their GED or HiSET exam as well. What's happening at YOURpath?

New and exciting things are continuing to take place at YOURpath. Here's how you can help our efforts:

- SUPPORT OUR PROGRAM: Last month, YOURpath for Adult Learners established itself as a nonprofit in the state of Pennsylvania, and is currently working towards its 501c3 tax-exempt status. This will enable us to offer flexible, low to free tuition for our students as well as to support our vision and mission through charitable offers and donations. All donations will enable us to extend free tuition to our students; pay for and staff our program & services and broaden our program and services to include a test center location. Donors are encouraged to visit our website to learn of the ways in which they can give.
- INVITATION: At this time, we are seeking talented individuals, who are passionate about education and support our vision and mission to serve as our Board of Directors. Currently, we have two highly accomplished educators considering the roles of Board Chairman and Secretary. We are seeking possibly two more gifted individuals to serve as members. If interested, please contact us with your letter of interest. Additionally, we are seeking volunteers to serve as online tutors. If you are interested in making a difference in the life of someone else, please contact us.
