

Private Schools in the North Dallas Area

In addition to our stellar ISDs, our area offers a wide array of private school options within 20 miles of Plano, TX

What to Consider

Do you want the school to be faith based (if so, should it be a specific denomination)? What learning environment would suit your child best? Should the school be geared to special needs? What size school would work best for your child? What grade levels does the school serve? How much are tuition, activity fees, meal plans, uniforms, etc.? Answering these questions first will help you narrow your search.
