SERVICE AND EMOTIONAL SUPPORT ANIMALS

The policy of the Board of Le Ciel Venetian Tower Association, Inc. is to make every attempt to provide a reasonable accommodation to a disabled owner, tenant, guest or other occupant of a unit with respect to a service or emotional support animal in accordance with State of Florida and Federal laws. This Rule prevails over any conflicting provisions in the Association's rules regarding animals that are not service or emotional support animals.

A disabled person must provide a written request for a service or emotional support animal.

In the case of a service animal (i.e., one that has specialized training), the disabled person must provide a certificate or other written evidence that the animal is in fact a service animal.

With respect to an emotional support animal, the disabled person must also provide a letter from a physician, psychologist or social worker that identifies the disability and the need for the emotional support animal to afford the disabled person equal opportunity to use and enjoy a condominium unit, including use of the common elements.

If the requesting person's disability is obvious, the Board will not require any additional information regarding the disability and the need for the requested accommodation.

The disabled person must identify the service or emotional support animal by name, breed and size and provide a picture. The disabled person must also provide written evidence that the service or emotional support animal has been properly vaccinated and supplement such written evidence on an annual basis.

Upon receipt of the required information and request from the disabled person, the Board will review and provide a response to the disabled person within 20 days of receipt. The Board will send written notice to the disabled person with respect to the Board's decision.

A disabled person's need for a reasonable accommodation may change over time as a result of changes in the individual's level of disability. If and when circumstances change, the disabled person must notify the Board in writing if he or she no longer needs the service or emotional support animal. The Board may revoke permission for a service or emotional support animal if there is no longer a need for the disabled person to have such service or emotional support animal.

If the Board grants the disabled person's request, the Board reserves the right to withdraw its approval at any time should the service or emotional support animal become a nuisance to others, including, without limitation: excessive barking; biting or other aggressive behavior; failure to properly dispose of excrement; bringing the service or emotional support animal to a prohibited area in Le Ciel Venetian Tower; failure to comply with applicable laws and ordinances; not maintaining the service or emotional support animal on a leash, stroller or transport device at all times when outside of a unit; or sanitation problems. In the case of a service animal, the disabled person must keep a vest or other means of identifying the service animal's status as such on the service animal at all times when outside the unit.

The owner of the unit and the disabled person, if other than the owner of the unit, shall be responsible for all damage caused by the service or emotional support animal to persons or property.

No service or emotional support animal may be brought into the pool or spa. A service or emotional support animal is prohibited from the pool deck, spa deck and social room when food is served (for example, if the Association or an owner has a party in that area).

Service and emotional support animals are prohibited in elevators other than the service elevator. Adopted 5/16/19

Violation of Rules & Regulations and Fining Procedures:

Rules and Regulations are to enable 86 families living together in a single building to coexist and respect each person's rights.

Pursuant to Florida Statutes Section 718.303, Florida Administrative Code Section 61B-23.005, and the Association By-laws, the Association may levy fines against a unit for the failure of the owner of the unit, or its occupant, tenant or invitee, to comply with any provision of the Declaration of Condominium, the Association By-laws, or the Association Rules and Regulations. The unit owner shall be responsible for the payment of the fine, regardless of whether the violation has been committed by the unit owner, or an occupant, tenant or invitee. No fine may exceed $100 per day of a continuing violation, with a single notice and opportunity for hearing, provided that no such fine shall in the aggregate exceed $1,000.00. The Association must observe these procedures to levy a fine;

1. The party against whom the fine is sought to be levied shall be afforded an opportunity for hearing after reasonable notice of not less than fourteen (14) days. If the violations stem from conduct of a tenant or invitee, the Association shall send notice to the unit owner and the tenant or invitee. The notice shall include:
 - a. A statement of the date, time and place of the hearing;
 - b. A statement of the provisions of the Declaration, Association By-Laws, or Association Rules and Regulations which have allegedly been violated;
 - c. A short and plain statement of the matters asserted by the Association; and

2. At the hearing, the party against whom the fine may be levied shall have an opportunity to respond, to present evidence, and to provide written and oral argument on all issues involved and shall have an opportunity at the hearing to review, challenge, and respond to any material consideration by the Association. The hearing shall be conducted before a committee of unit owners appointed by the Board none of whom may be serving as Directors. If the committee, by majority vote, does not agree with the fine, it may not be levied.
