

How to Play:

There are currently 52 characters in play with the start of Season 8. Your challenge is to predict which characters DIE in each episode by selecting 10 names for the first episode; 9 more in the second episode; 8 more in the third episode; 7 more in the fourth episode, 6 more in the fifth episode; and selecting who claims the throne in the final episode.

Scoring:

Each round increases with possible points for every character that dies in that respective episode. 1 pt. for episode 1; 2 pts. for episode 2; 3 pts. for episode 3; 4 pts. for episode 4; 5 pts. for episode 5; and 50 points for picking the king!

Progressive Scoring is in Play:

Even if one of your choices DOES NOT DIE in that episode, you can still earn points should they die in future episodes. That means if you predict a character to die in episode 1 (and they die) you earn points for that round and each set of points for each round going forward.

If they die in episode 1:	1 pt. + 2 pts. + 3 pts. + 4 pts. + 5 pts. + 6 pts.	= 21 total points
If they die in episode 2:	2 pts. + 3 pts. + 4 pts. + 5 pts. + 6 pts.	= 20 total points
If they die in episode 3:	3 pts. + 4 pts. + 5 pts. + 6 pts.	= 18 total points
If they die in episode 4:	4 pts. + 5 pts. + 6 pts.	= 15 total points
If they die in episode 5:	5 pts. + 6 pts.	= 11 total points
If they die in episode 6:	6 pts.	= 06 total points
If you pick the king:		= 50 total points

How to Complete Your Form:

Starting with episode 1, select 10 characters you think will die. Then draw a line through their name for that episode and each of the following episodes because they are essentially dead in your bracket.

Then select the specific number of new characters to die in the following episodes, again by drawing a line through their name for that episode and each of the following episodes. Please see the attached SAMPLE BRACKET.

Game of Thrones Primer:

And just for kicks, you should also download the Game of Thrones Primer that details each of the characters and their current status.
