

A door lock on the base of mini-light

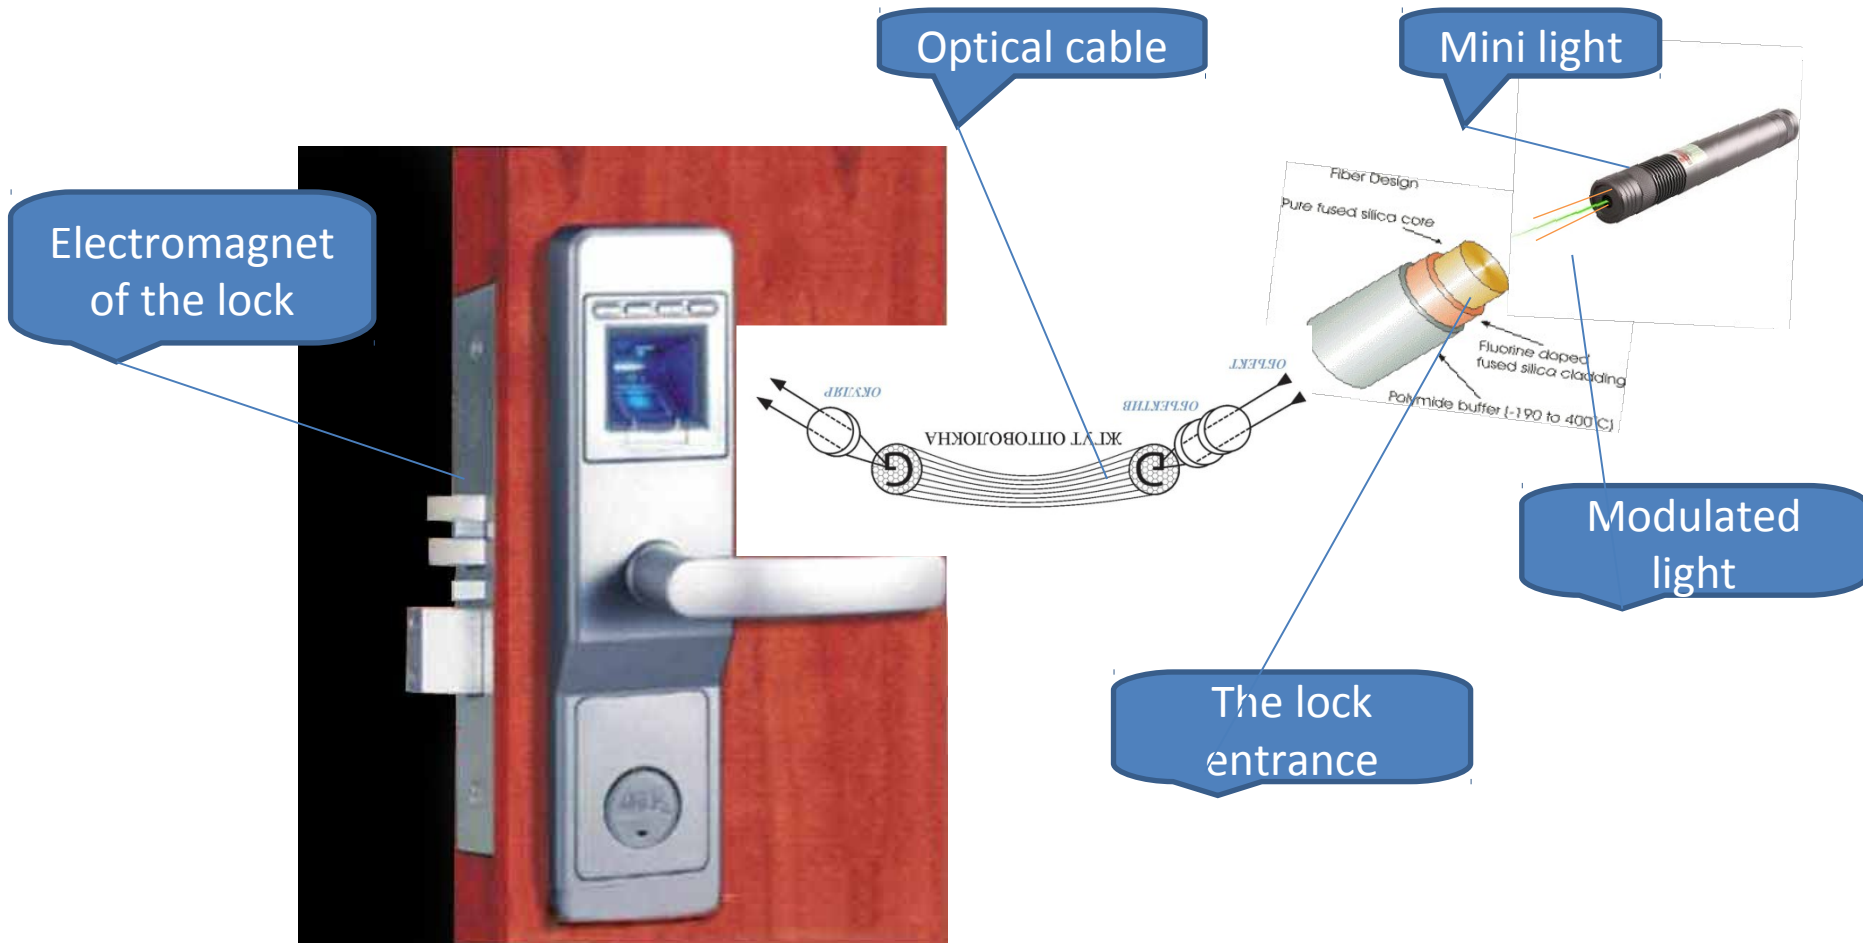

The door lock which is inaccessible to open by any master key. Instead of a hole for the key there is an end face of a light cable. Mini-light sends the short modulated signal (impulse) and an electromagnet of the lock opens the door.

The light cable can be at any length from the door therefore the entrance of the lock can be located anywhere.

A door lock on the base of mini-light

A door lock on the base of mini-light

Method 2

