Build an ELITE Legacy

Wolfpack Elite is a USA Swimming club focused on providing the world's best coaching to elite swimmers aiming for success at national, international, and Olympic competitions.

The team is led by world renowned coach, Braden Holloway. Braden led Team USA's World Championship Swim Team in 2025 as their sole head coach, the first time a single coach has been given this honor.

WE trains in Raleigh, NC at NC State University, surrounding pools, and coming in 2026 the Wolfpack Elite outdoor high-performance aquatic center.

Wolfpack Elite formed to allow NCSU swimmers and alumni the opportunity to train and compete as they pursue their international and Olympic goals. After the successes of the 2016 Rio, 2021 Tokyo, and 2024 Paris Olympics, the team has grown to include other elite post-grads from universities nationwide.

These athletes will sacrifice everything in order to train with the best and Wolfpack Elite helps them reach their dreams.

Our Mission

Wolfpack Elite raises funds to support the current and future success of Wolfpack Elite swimmers. As a non-profit, 501(c)(3), Wolfpack Elite provides the support necessary for elite swimmers to achieve their greatest goals and dreams of becoming Olympic Gold Medalists. Wolfpack Elite does this by providing financial support in three areas: the building of a new outdoor aquatic high-performance center, providing financial support for competition and training expenses, and providing financial support for elite coaching.

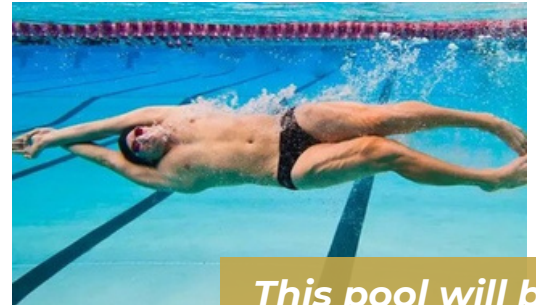

Donors have a unique opportunity to help write the next chapter of Wolfpack swimming.

BUILDING AN ELITE LEGACY

Fueling dreams

Wolfpack Elite and NC State Swimming have become synonymous with excellence—developing NCAA champions, Olympians, and world-class athletes. To sustain this success and propel the program forward, we must provide facilities that match our ambition and competition. An outdoor training facility is not just an addition—it is a strategic investment in the future of Wolfpack swimming.

This pool will be more than a facility - it will be a cornerstone of the program's legacy.

The impact of this training pool

A Catalyst for Recruiting

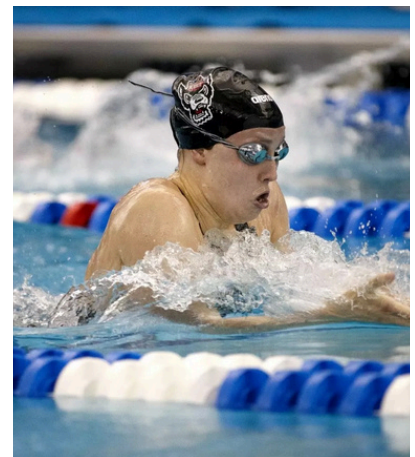

Top student-athletes have choices, and facilities often tip the scale. A modern outdoor training pool is a visible demonstration of the Wolfpack's commitment to performance and well-being. It will give Wolfpack Elite and NC State a competitive edge in attracting the next generation of NCAA champions and international stars.

Expanding Opportunity & Maximizing Potential

With both post-graduate professionals and student-athletes training daily, pool time is one of our most limited resources. An outdoor pool expands lane availability, reduces crowding, and provides coaches with the flexibility to design training that maximizes individual development. This means more swimmers reaching their full potential—an outcome that directly translates into championships, medals, and lifelong impact.

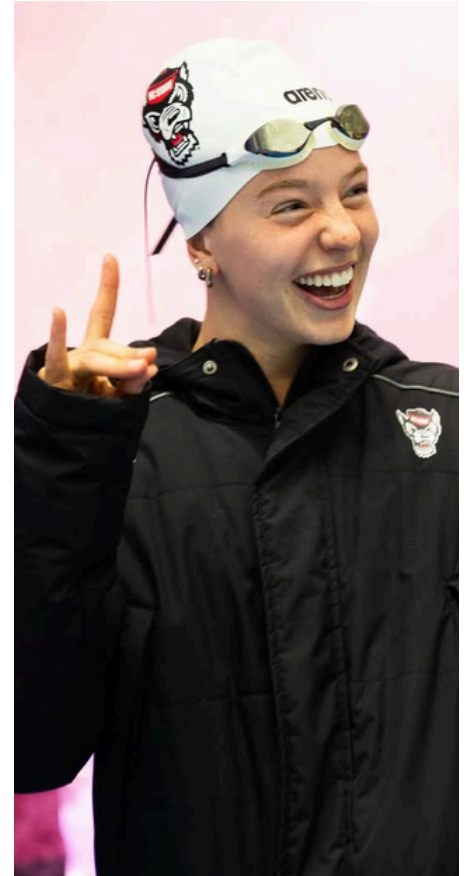

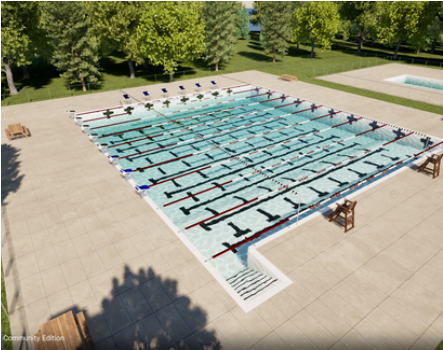

Coaching Excellence

Beyond added capacity, an outdoor facility enhances the daily experience of training. Athletes benefit from variety in their regimen, outdoor exposure that boosts wellness and recovery, and the inspiration of a world-class environment designed for their success. These advantages fuel motivation, resilience, and long-term performance.

Our Catalyst

Located just minutes from campus at Lake Johnson, the Wolfpack Elite outdoor high performance aquatic center is being developed through a public-private partnership with the City of Raleigh, with construction expected to begin in 2026.

The centerpiece of the facility will be a championship-caliber Myrtha training pool featuring 10 short-course yard lanes and 8 short-course meter lanes, enabling Wolfpack swimmers to train year-round at both national and international distances in North Carolina's temperate climate.

City of Raleigh Commitment

Nearly $1 million in upgrades and ADA improvements that will enhance the:

- Heated locker rooms
- Lobby
- Offices
- Team room

Benefiting both Wolfpack Elite and the broader community.

One of a kind facility

Myrtha has been the official pool manufacturer for the U.S. Olympic Trials since 2004 and for the Olympic Games since 2008, establishing itself as the global standard for elite competition.

This will be the first Myrtha pool in North Carolina.

The pool will be heated year-round, with starting blocks installed for both yards and meters configurations. A poured-in-place rubber deck, branded with Wolfpack Elite logos, along with additional facility branding, will reinforce program identity.
