

Space-Crafts Newsletter 3 - November 2025

Hi and welcome to the November edition of the Space-Crafts 2026 newsletter

Lots of updates since the last newsletter!

Exhibitor Update

Special guest exhibitor Anderson Entertainment are now confirmed. They will be bringing a selection of great new kits and collectables, some of which were on display at the IPMS show at Telford this year. Some very nice stuff!

A third room at the venue has now been made available. This means that those who are currently on the waiting list for tables can expect an e-mail soon. We've taken over the breakfast restaurant so there really is nowhere else left to go!

Competitions

There have been a few changes to the competitions with the arrival of Anderson Entertainment. The original Gerry Anderson competition has been expanded to two categories. Firstly, is for a completed commercially available kit such as the AiP range or third party 3-D printed model. The second category is for a completely scratch built model of a Gerry Anderson vehicle. What you make it out of is up to you, it just can't be an off the shelf kit.

Both will be judged by the Anderson Team; you can't get more official than that!

There will also now be a best in show award. This is for all the other models on display, and the winner will receive a rather smart trophy, pictures to follow!

This award is being sponsored by Tyrell models who will be judging the event.

For more daily updates please join the Facebook Group.

Thanks very much and I hope you all get models you'll never get round to making this Christmas!!

The Space-Crafts 2026 Team

Featured Exhibitors:

World of Wayne – check out his YouTube channel

IPMS Sci-Fi Group

Featured Vendor: Scaletronics

The largest selection of sci-fi models and accessories in the UK. Amazing lighting system aimed at makers of sci-fi kits. Some of their plug and play kits are particularly cool – think phaser ring on the Enterprise -D!

