Seasoned rock collaboration Dante's View transforms the emotional outburst of the artists into polished and touching melodic tracks in their new collection.

The two-person collaboration Dante's View is turning heads in the contemporary rock industry. If you are a fan of classic garage rock blended with modern rock resonance, then they have the perfect music for you. Multi-instrumentalist and producer based in Northern California JL 'Pepe' Espada and California-based guitarist and songwriter Stacy James have won my heart with brilliant compositions like 'Rattler's Plight' and 'Rocks Keep on Rolling'. The soothing instrumental flairs mixed with the penetrative vocal performances in the tracks as well as other songs like 'Losing the Bout' and 'America's Mess' take me to a euphoric subspace dominated by the incredible acoustic outburst.

Working with the production house Boneyard Records, Dante's View is producing back-to-back hits on major streaming platforms. The artists use instruments like Von K guitars, Echopark guitars and Friedman Amps to create extraordinary songs such as 'Rattler's Plight', 'Rocks Keep on Rolling', 'Losing the Bout' and 'America's Mess'. The hardcore resonance takes the tracks to a higher level enhancing the greatness of the thought-provoking lyrical illustrations. The prevalent sonic flow offers an amazing backdrop for the artist's power-packed singing. They have recently released their new project, 'Doors and Mirrors' on July 4th this year. Listen to the songs on Spotify and follow them on Instagram for more updates.
