DIYDG AT MOOROOBOL HUB

From 13th September, local youth organisation Deadly Inspiring Youth Doing Good (DIYDG) made the Mooroolool Hub their temporary headquarters.

DIYDG is a youth-led, non-profit organisation supporting young people in the community through a range of programs and activities which address holistic and cultural wellbeing and help young people to realise their potential to live a positive and purposeful life.

ELDERS MENTORING YOUTH

The Mooroolool Women's Yarning Circle have been providing cultural mentoring and support to youth in the community along with support from Mooroolool's Queensland Police Beat and Deadly Inspiring Youth Doing Good (DIYDG). The women shared a feed of homemade coconut curry chicken and continued sewing comfort blankets for kids in the foster care system. Feedback from the youth is that they felt welcomed and supported and their support workers reported increased levels of respect demonstrated by young people whilst engaging with the Elders.
