

SPEEDBUMP AHEAD

We ran into a speedbump and had to slowdown a bit last week. Not a lot of movement, over half the teams didn't check off a single box last week.

No 12's or 13's got hit and the race got tighter, but the pace has slowed down.

Houston got to 2 away with a 6 and 7 coming in consecutive games on Monday and Tuesday. Happy Days for Louis Adams.

Pittsburgh had a big week, nailing 3 spots and got into a tie for the lead, making Nate Singh a happy camper.

Besides the three teams with 12, there are a dozen with 11 and another 8 with 10 so this pool is being hotly contested, as it should be. New names will appear each week.

The numbers 1 and 3 went extinct as expected would happen. The 4 and 6 will be next. That will make grading the scores every day a lot easier for me and Bob.

We may be doing a midweek news flash if one of the leaders gets to 1 away. Talk soon.
