

A Helping Hand

One fine day my family and I went to the beach. Suddenly from afar, I saw a dolphin laying on the shore, trapped in an abandoned fishing net. "click, click, whistle, whistle", said the dolphin, in distress! I ran fast toward him and found myself inches away from the dolphin. I desperately looked around, I found a sharp conch shell and forcefully used it to rip the net. The dolphin was freed, he swam happily, did a little dance and whistled motioning me to come on to him. I never thought that I'd be able to save a dolphin, never mind ride on one! I was having an awesome time on the dolphin's back until... Kaflop! He leaped into the shimmering blue water. I was hanging on the dolphin's fin for dear life, but then we saw a turtle trapped in a plastic bag "oh no", I said. The dolphin swam me closer, within a second I was able to untangle the turtle's flippers. After I freed the turtle.

I felt an extreme rush of excitement rushing through my body. Many awesome sea animal gathered around me happily cheering. Before I knew it, a party was starting. We had delicious algae bobas, endless crispy seaweed snacks and did the most unique dance moves in the underwater realm. At last, to say thank you, the sea animals presented me with the most amazing gift ever. It was a piece of green sea glass that had our adventure in it.

As I waved good bye I made a promise that I would protect the oceans and the exotic animals that live inside the oceans. I promise that I would be a helping hand to nature!

The end

The End!
