

The three Portals

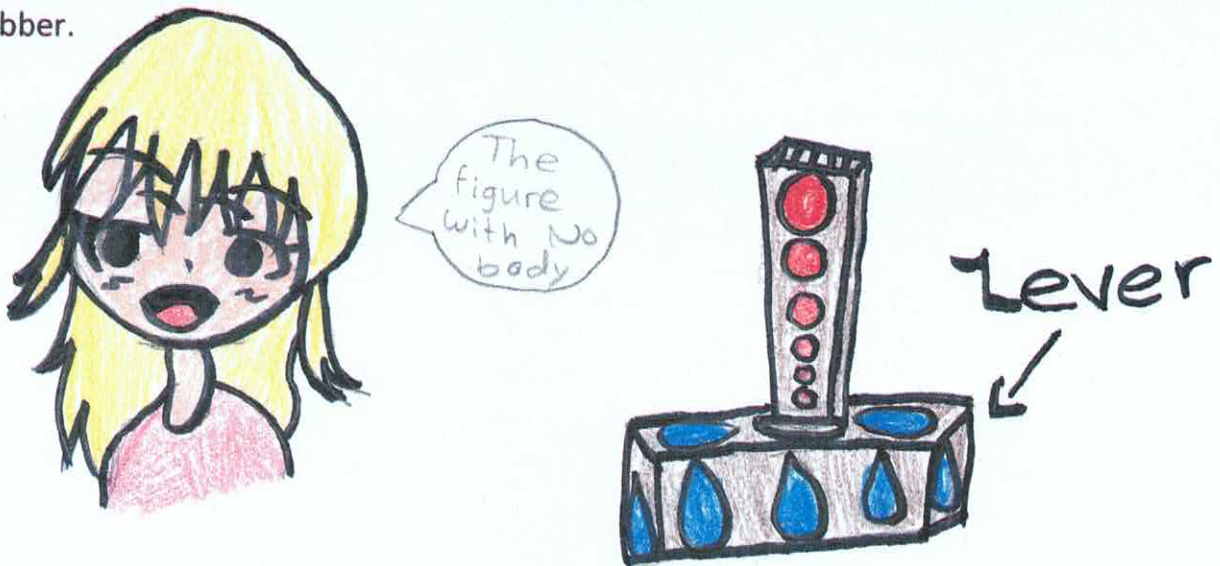

One day, there was a girl named Kandace, she was walking from school with her friend Crystal, then Crystal said "Ok, Kandace, this is my spot. I will see you next week!" it would be a short Thanksgiving break, though Kandace has to celebrate it with her family without her aunt and uncle. And that would make her feel blue. "It's ok." She tried to cheer herself up and she stopped at the central library. "Shhh..." She heard something in came from behind her as she turned around inside the library. She saw a small crunched-up paper near the gift shop that was full of great antiques. She picked up the paper, it felt warm in her small hands. Then she saw her name on it, "Kandace." She didn't know what to do, she opened it up and read it. It written in fancy cursive. She read that note, it said, "Dear, Kandace, there are three different portals in the Children's department inside Huntington beach central library. Look wisely and be careful.

P.S. Nobody will guide you. Good luck!"

Kandace just stared at it and even she does not know where she has to start, which confused her. She finally decides to look near the Children's department and then, stopped to think again about what it means "Nobody will guide you." She looked at the fancy note again, then mumbled to herself "'Nobody' means there is probably something with "no body".

As she circled the Children's library for probably 30 minutes around, then she found it she was looking for. A man figure without a body. She thought "Why don't I just try to find the clues around it now?" As she carefully looked around the figure she accidentally bumped it with her elbow. "Ahhhhh!!" She screamed she tried to catch the figure but she was too slow, it fell onto the warm carpet. Kandace was surprised to see that the figure did not break it was made out of rubber.

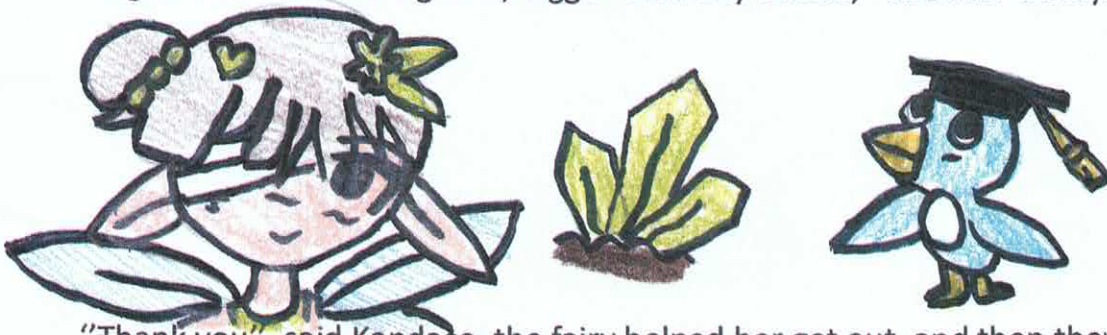

She saw that there was a bronze lever with shiny gems in the spot the figure was and next to it was another gold small piece of paper. She read it,

" Dear Kandace, as you know you found the bodyless man you see the lever in front of you it will take you to the very first portal, pull it, and you will find yourself inside a tree house, there will be a box, open it, then a large voice will ask you what you wish for say I wish to find the second portal. Good luck,"

She pulled the lever and soon found herself inside the first portal. She was inside the tree house, and right, where she was staring, was the box. She knew the key was inside, so she opened the box and inside was the key, she put the necklace on and then she heard a voice," What do you wish for?" said the voice she answered quietly," I wish to find the second portal" said Kandace

Kandace found herself back at the library entrance, she was also holding a piece of paper, she opened it and then read it, "Dear Kandace, I'm very proud of you for making it past portal 1 now you have to find the portal two, to do that you have to look for the biggest trees heart, go inside and you will see light, I believe in you. Good Luck" Kandace knew one thing, she had to find Library park, though she didn't know where it could be so she asked for some directions. 15 minutes later she found herself at the park, she put one foot on the grass but fell into a trap door. She landed on a pillow, then she noticed her surroundings there were beautiful emeralds everywhere "welcome" said a lush voice she turned to see a beautiful gem fairy, "hi" said the fairy, "hi" said Kandace, "could you help me get to the second portal" asked Kandace "Yes, I have known that place for quite a long time. Look for a big tree, bigger than any others," she said wisely.

"Thank you", said Kandace, the fairy helped her get out, and then they said their goodbyes, 5 minutes later she was standing in front of the biggest tree at the library park she looked for the heart as she put her fingers at an area she felt dizzy, then everything went black. She saw light the color of gold, then she noticed that she was inside the tree's heart, it looked very much like a library," Wake up sleepyhead" said a cute voice, next to her was a cute bird "hi" said Kandace, " so it was you who sent all those letters!" she said "Yep, it was me congratulations on finding these portals said the bird

The End