

A Beach Discovery

Everybody knows that fantasy animals are not real, but one day that changed because of a little girl. And this is what happened.

“Mommy Mommy wait for me!” Hi I am six years old and I am going on a trip to the beach! Once we get to the beach I have so many things to do. My Daddy works at the beach so we will meet there.

Soon we arrived. I walked around the beach for a little while. I made a sand castle, and then I went to bed. In the morning I ate breakfast and started drawing. I Wished that my water animals would come alive. At night I was getting my favorite keychain to draw. IT WAS MISSING !!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

I searched forever at night and soon realized that it was LOST. I tried to remember where to go. I thought I saw a flash of light. I screamed so they knew not to come close. It was my imagination or I thought it was.

I walked the way I thought our rented house was. It was dark. The waves calmed me down a little. I sat down on a stump to think about that flash of light. I soon realized that it was my water animals!!!!!!

I ran as fast as I could back to the place I found that flash of light. My leg hit a rock. I was falling into the water slowly. I tried to swim, my arms up, but it was no use. I had run out of air.

Hewo my name is Dolly. I am a baby dolphin made out of paper and crayons. My story was I saw a little girl coming down from the water so I decided to take her up out of the water. Soon the girl was taken to the hospital. Violet grew up to be an artist.

And I went back to a picture.

The end