

A Message from Jeremy:

Dear constituent,

At the Kindersley Legion with Roger Strutt, announcing the receipt of a Federal Government grant to help the Legion cope with the pandemic challenges.

I want to wish you and your loved ones all the very best for 2021. It's my prayer that this year will see the beginning of the end of the pandemic, and that we'll start seeing some return to normalcy.

One of the concerns I've heard from many of you in the past months, is that the various levels of government are overstepping their bounds with regards to the pandemic response and disregarding the basic rights and freedoms enshrined to us in the Charter. I want to assure you that I take your concerns seriously, and I think it is important to know that many of these issues have arisen due to the provincial government's decisions under the provincial Emergency Act. At the same time however, different levels of governments do not exist in a vacuum, and the federal government is responsible for ensuring the basic protection of its citizens' rights and freedoms. That is why we as the Opposition have steadfastly demanded the federal government release documents that justify and evidence the decisions they are making. To this point, they have refused to do so, or if they do, they are heavily redacted.

Others of you have written, expressing your concern that the government has not gone far enough. Particularly in their efforts of vaccine procurement and rollout, which is a valid critique of the Liberal Government, and one Conservatives have been making for some time now.

There continues to be a wide variety of perspectives on the pandemic, the response, and the recovery, and I encourage everyone to continue to engage on these important issues respectfully. It's important as citizens to make your voices heard, and as your federal representative, I continue to welcome your feedback. As always, you can find my contact info below my signature. I can assure you that we as Conservatives are working hard to hold the Government to account on their pandemic response, and their policy decisions at large, and we will continue to do so this year—come what may.

Many of you are probably aware of the issue of Clare's Law, and the fact that RCMP in Saskatchewan are unable to enforce the Law do to their being restricted by the federal Privacy Act. I sponsored a petition on this issue, effectively calling on the Government to amend the Act in order to allow personal information under the control of a federal institution to be disclosed to a third party for the purpose of protecting an individual from interpersonal and domestic violence. The petition was tabled in the House last November, and the Government responded by noting that currently they were conducting an online public consultation on the Privacy Act. (You can read their response on the petition link above).

I am asking to please take a few minutes out of your day and contribute to the online consultation. I encourage you to express the importance that the Privacy Act be amended to allow the RCMP to comply with Clare's Law, so we can curb the high rate of domestic abuse in our province.

Keystone XL Emergency Debate:

Last week, President Biden announced that he is cancelling the Keystone XL pipeline, a decision which will affect thousands of Canadian workers and have a devastating impact on the economy. The Liberal Government promised Canadians that they would fight to get this approved, yet all we got were two phone calls between the Prime Minister and the President.

Keystone XL is a project of national significance. Securing jobs in the resource sector is an essential part of getting Canadians back to work and Canada's economic recovery. That is why Conservatives requested an emergency debate on Keystone last December, ahead of the predicted decision by the Biden administration. However, we were declined this debate.

Now, only after the project has been cancelled, were we granted an Emergency Debate, which of course comes far too late. You can view my speech at this debate by clicking on the image on the left.

New Year, New Tax Hike

Another change of the calendar and another Liberal tax hike—happy new year!

January 1 saw more than just the ushering in of a new year. It brought us a tax increase from a government which promised not to raise taxes on Canadians this year. The Prime Minister has stood in the House of Commons many times making the same statement, that they will not raise taxes. He has also said that they are supporting the middle class and those working to join it, as if it is some elusive and elitist club. I guess we can add another broken Liberal promise to the ever-growing

Of course, this shouldn't come as a surprise, not with this government recently committing to raise the carbon tax up to $170 per tonne by 2030. There isn't a tax that a Liberal could refuse. All of this while municipalities and other jurisdictions have committed to . . . to continue reading my latest article, please click here.

Supporting our Energy Sector Petition:

Canada's energy sector will have to be an essential part of our national recovery. Whatever anti-energy activists and politicians say or want to believe, this is a solid fact. Sadly, they constantly repeat their message in public and get more attention as a result. In Parliament, I want to make sure other voices in support of energy development are heard and respected. I will proudly present petitions as one way of keeping the message going.

If you're interested in signing and sharing it with family or friends, you can find one (with instructions for the process) here.
