

David and Goliath

Jason: Hi, Lambie Pie, how are you?

Lambchop: My name is Lambchop!

Jason: Well escuuuuuse me!

LC: Well, you gotta treat people with respect. Especially when I'm the great great great great granddaughter of a sheep that belonged to the great King David.

J: Who was he?

LC: You know, King David in the Bible. He was the greatest king ever. He even killed a giant when he was just a little boy.

J: You're makin' it up! Nobody could kill a giant, not even a grownup. Besides, there's no such thing as giants.

LC: There is too! I'm not making it up. My great great great great grandfather told my great great great grandfather, who told my—

J (interrupting) : Ok, ok I get the picture!

LC: Anyway, this giant was the leader of the Philistines. All of them were tall, but Goliath—that was the giant's name—he was about 9 feet tall. The Israelites took one look at him and quaked with fear.

J: Now let me get this straight. There was gonna be a basketball game, Phillies vs Israelites, and the Israelite team took one look a Goliath, and then there was an earthquake. Right?

LC: Wrong! It was a war, not a basketball game.

J: Oh. But that Goliath dude would make an awesome basketball player!

LC: Do you want to hear the rest of the story?

J: Go ahead.

LC: David's brothers were in the Israelite army, and his dad got worried about them so he sent David to find out what was happening. When he go there Goliath was calling the Israelites all kinds of ugly names, and even making fun of the one true God.

J: Sounds like a real mean guy.

LC: David was just furious when he heard all the Israelites were too scared to fight Goliath. So David said he'd fight him. Everybody just laughed at him, especially Goliath. Boy, was he surprised when David shot him with his slingshot.

J: But a little bitty slingshot wouldn't hurt a great big giant!

LC: But it did! It killed him dead.

J: Naw!

LC: Yes it did. God made it so that David could kill Goliath with the slingshot.

J: Oh, God did it.

LC: Right. And later David became a great king, because he trusted God to help him no matter how big his problems were.

J: Goliath was a big problem, all right! I'm glad that God loves us enough to care about all our problems.

LC: Big ones and little ones. Me too. (both exit)
