

Green (Jesus Loves Everyone)

(Jason the frog enters)

Jason: (singing) Jesus loves the little children, all the children of the world. (looks around) Green and green and green and green, they are precious in His sight, Jesus loves the green children of the world! (Dixie enters)

Dixie: Alright Jason, I heard that. You know that's not the way it goes! Jesus loves ALL the children of the world, not just the green ones!

Jason: Well, you weren't supposed to be listening. I didn't think anyone was around.

Dixie: Well, I was hiding over there to see what you were up to.

Jason: But I was just singing it my way. We always sing "red and yellow black and white" but we never include my color, green!

Dixie: Jason, that's just a song. Just because it doesn't say "green" doesn't mean Jesus doesn't love you. He loves everyone the same.

Jason: I know. I heard that song in church this week. I was just having some fun.

Dixie: Well, you've gotta be careful. What if someone else had heard you.

Jason Oh yeah. I guess you're right.

Dixie: You should sing it right. Jesus loves you no matter what color you are, whether you're tall or short, or young or very old like(insert name of teacher or pastor). Jesus loves everyone the same.

Jason: Ok Dixie, I'll be good from now on.

Dixie. Good. I'll see you later. (exits)

Jason: Bye Dixie. (pauses, then sings) Jesus loves the green children of the world!
