Creation of Malaysia 5.0 concept and KL - Kuala Lumpur KL Tech City for the Malaysian Government

MDEC chairman's Malaysia 5.0 narrative as an innovation economy

By Rais Hussin June 17, 2020

- Envision's MDEC playing leading role in catalyzing transition to Malaysia 5.0
- Aims for greater well-being for all citizens regardless of age, ethnicity, class

[Ed note: Malaysia Digital Economy Corporation's appointment of its new chairman Rais Hussin breaks the mould of past chairmen always being senior civil servants. And right off the bat, Rais, a serial entrepreneur, has done something no other past MDEC chairman has done – pen an article outlining his aspirations for where he hopes MDEC will lead the nation, with his Malaysia 5.0 vision.]

Digital transformation is a passion of mine, to which I have dedicated my professional and academic efforts for many years, culminating in the publication of a book entitled 4IR: Reinventing a Nation which I co-authored with one of the world's leading blockchain experts Dinis Guarda, and was launched at the Frankfurt book fair in October 2019.

MDEC to make Malaysia global IR 4.0 hub, says newly-appointed chief Rais Hussin

By SIRA HABIBU

BUSINESS

Tuesday, 16 Jun 2020

12:56 PM MYT

PETALING JAYA: Malaysia Digital Economy Corporation (MDEC) is proposing a designated hub interconnecting Fourth Industrial Revolution (IR 4.0 or 4IR) players in Malaysia to the rest of the world.

Newly appointed chairman Datuk Dr Rais Hussin (pic) is mooted the initiative, saying a solid regulatory framework and strategic oversight were needed to set the direction.

<https://www.thestar.com.my/business/business-news/2020/06/16/mdec-to-make-malaysia-global-ir-40-hub-says-newly-appointed-chief-raiss-hussin>

On June 12, the Communications and Multimedia Ministry announced Rais' appointment as MDEC chairman for two years, effective June 15.

He has been for some years a strategist at Parti Pribumi Bersatu Malaysia, and together with blockchain expert Dinis Guarda, had recently co-authored a book titled 4IR: Reinventing a Nation that was launched during the global Frankfurt book fair in October last year.

"The book was designed as a blueprint of sorts to assist governments of developing nations in their digital transformation agenda.

"Digital transformation presents both challenges and opportunities to us all. Those who succeed can use IR 4.0 technologies to create a better life for all, including new and more meaningful jobs, reskilling of the workforce, better health and education, and smarter and greener cities," he said.

Rais added that companies and households were now in a recovery mode after months of living under the movement control order (MCO), implemented since March 18 to curb Covid-19 infections.

"We are now emerging from the crisis," he said, adding that the ensuing recovery would rely largely upon a managed digital transformation towards establishing "Malaysia 5.0", which he described as a new narrative for Malaysia as an "innovation economy" that can compete in a disruptive technology world, serve as a springboard into Asean (the Association of South-East Asian Nations), a bridge between Asia, the Middle East and Africa, and interconnect with the 1.8 billion Islamic population worldwide.
