

TEACHING PHILOSOPHY

My calling is to teach the Word of God primarily. I believe good teachers make good preachers. My emphasis is always to bring a message from the text that is Gospel-centered. The Apostle Paul stated in Romans 1:16 that the Gospel of Christ is the power of God unto Salvation. I have a process of developing sermons and teaching lessons focusing on a theme statement based on the key verse of the chosen teaching pericope'. I have taught it in five classes since 2004, resulting in the licensing of more than fifteen preachers, each of whom has moved on to seminary or is presently leading ministries. I have codified my process in my book, ANYBODY CAN PREACH, published in (2015). Teaching the power of the Gospel of Jesus Christ and the cross is central to my teaching. Another aspect of my teaching includes the learner demonstrating their ability to perform what they have learned.
