There are a thousand different ways to enjoy history, and with springtime fully upon us, now's the perfect time to take your passion for learning outdoors. Join us on Saturday, May 13, from 11am to 2pm for a presentation from over a dozen historical reenactors whose area of expertise ranges from the colonial era up to the early-1900s. Several of our Founding Fathers will be in attendance to take questions and chat with guests.

PHILIPSE MANOR HALL STATE HISTORIC SITE HOSTS PINKSTER FESTIVAL

Philipse Manor Hall State Historic Site is pleased to present a Pinkster Festival for the general public on Saturday, May 20, 2023, from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. This free, family-friendly event celebrates the historic Afro-Dutch festival of Pinkster. Pinkster comes from the Dutch word for Pentecost and was a Dutch religious holiday and a celebration of spring. In the Dutch colony of New Netherland, enslaved Africans combined the Christian traditions of Pentecost with elements of African celebrations to create the unique festival known as Pinkster, one of the few times in the year when enslaved people could travel to visit family and keep cultural traditions alive. Pinkster celebrations historically featured African music and dance, vendors, food and drink, games, and more. Pinkster was an opportunity for people of all backgrounds to gather and celebrate spring. Philipse Manor Hall State Historic Site's Pinkster Festival will feature performances by the Pinkster Players featuring Chief Baba Neil Clarke, musical performers Carla & Keyes, food, vendors, historical programs, children's games and activities, and more. Philipse Manor Hall is still accepting vendor applications. 10'x10' spaces are just $25. For more information and to apply, visit www.philipsemanorhall.com/blog/call-for-vendors. ## Spencertown Academy Presents "Learnin' The Blues by Playin' The Blues: An Interactive Workshop" May 20

Spencertown Academy Arts Center presents "Learnin' The Blues by Playin' The Blues: An Interactive Workshop" led by Richard Green, seasoned blues guitarist and president of the Capital Region Blues Network, on Saturday, May 20 from 2:00 pm to 5:00 pm. The workshop will be limited to 10 participants; tuition is $50 (no one will be turned away due to inability to pay—contact the Academy if you need financial assistance to attend). Advance registration required via www.spencertownacademy.org.

Green will be joined by professional bass player Stevie Dillard and drummer Mark McKay, who will demonstrate playing blues in a group format. After some instruction in the basics, participants will get to play with these experienced musicians as the workshop progresses.

"Ever dreamt of playing the blues in a band? If you have an interest in blues music, but know little about how to play it, this will be a unique opportunity to learn about and play the blues in a very hands-on way," says Green. "It's going to be a lot of fun and a great learning experience."

All instruments, including voice, are welcome. Participants are responsible for bringing their own instruments (there will be a drum kit and a piano available). Basic proficiency playing an instrument is required. There is no minimum age limit, provided that younger musicians meet the requirement of basic proficiency.

Originally from Sheffield, England, guitarist Green has spent the last eight years playing with the Amy Ryan Band, one of the Capital Region's premiere blues bands. He has been active in blues and blues-rock bands since

THE SMALL WORKS SHOW June 2nd – July 2nd

Small is Big as Tivoli Artists Gallery presents THE SMALL WORKS SHOW featuring the art of nearly 30 artists working in a variety of methods, media, and of expression. Size is the only limitation in this exhibit of works no larger than approximately 11 X 14 inches. The size limitation imposed on the artists created a necessity to pack a lot of information into small compositional frameworks.

Visitors to the gallery will enjoy seeing paintings, photographs, ceramics, prints, sculpture and mixed media pieces on a very small scale to the size of a large notebook. Presented in this exhibit are works in many styles and forms. These include abstract expressionism, realism, and images of deep personal meaning. In contrast, there are works that are more whimsical in nature while others are poignant statements on subjects of importance to the particular artist.

Whatever a person's individual tastes might be, THE SMALL WORKS SHOW is sure to have something of interest for nearly everyone. Along with the variety in over 100 pieces on display, many works are offered at a price point that makes acquiring an original artwork accessible.

The exhibit opens with an artist's reception on Saturday, June 3rd from 5 - 7 PM. Please take advantage of an opportunity

Artist: Elisabeth Barnett

Size: 9x12, Oil on Linen Panel

Old Dutch Village Garden Club

Submitted by Pat Owens
 While you are planning for your garden this spring, consider the Annual Plant Sale of the Old Dutch Village Garden Club which will take place at the Memorial Garden across from CVS on May 20 at 9:00 AM. There will be hundreds (yes) of plants and some gardening accessories and books. If anyone has an abundance of plants, please give us a call. The club would welcome them and even dig if you're not up to it. We'd love to have them at least two weeks ahead to get them into their pots and healthy for the sale. It helps if you know the name and color of your plants. All proceeds from the sale go to local scholarships, community projects, and to maintain civic pride and our own Memorial Garden. Feel free to call Linda Lawson at 845-399-9532. She is a wealth of information on the club and on the Plant Sale. Our next meeting on May 11, we will have a presentation on "Be a Better Backyard Birder" by Cathy Michael. We meet at St. John's Reformed Church in Upper Red Hook at 12:30 on the second Thursday of each month, except for August. Please try to come. New members and visitors are always welcome, and we have snacks!

events/pinkster-festival. Philipse Manor Hall State Historic Site, located at 29 Warburton Ave., Yonkers, NY, 10701, is open for tours Wednesdays through Sundays, 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Dating back to the 1680s, Philipse Manor Hall State Historic Site sits near the confluence of the Nepperhan (Saw Mill) and Hudson Rivers, the site of a Munsee Lunaape village. Used by four generations of the Philipse family and worked by the people they enslaved and European tenant farmers, the Philipse Manor was once over 200,000 acres and helped make the Philipse family the richest in New York. Loyalists during the American Revolution, they fled to England and the Hall was owned by several individuals before becoming the Yonkers Village Hall and later Yonkers City Hall. When a new City Hall was built in the early 20th century, the house was preserved through the generosity of Eva Smith Cochran and donated to New York State to serve as a historic site. Today, Philipse Manor Hall State Historic Site provides visitors with a balanced approach to interpreting the lives of Indigenous, European, and African people to understand the complex relationships that took place at the Manor from the earliest days of the Dutch Colony of New Netherland to the American Revolution and beyond. ## Contemporary Artist David Hartt from page 6 of nearly 5,000 19th century photographic prints, collected by the artist Frederic Church between 1850 and 1900. Until now, this nationally significant and intact photography collection has been little-known and unseen by the public. "The Olana Partnership is thrilled to bring Olana's major collection of 19th century photography into public view and to partner with artist David Hartt to examine a theme that addresses the power of Church's vision for Olana," said Sean Sawyer, Washburn & Susan Oberwager President of The Olana Partnership. In Terraforming, artist and guest curator David Hartt reflects on the ways in which human culture and activity shape the land, eroding the boundary between human construction and the natural world, just as Frederic Church did in creating the 250-acre earthwork that is Olana. Through Hartt's selection of historic photographs from Olana's vast collection, the exhibition also explores what this global photographic collection tells us about Church's painting practice, travels, and ways of knowing and collecting the world. An installation of 48 original photographs within Olana's Sharp Family Gallery will include original and historically significant works by pioneering early photographers, including Eadweard Muybridge, William James Stillman, and Claude-Joseph Désiré Charnay. Throughout Frederic Church's 250-acre designed landscape, visitors will discover 6 large-scale reproductions of historic photographs in locations chosen by David Hartt. The exhibition includes two new works by Hartt: a site-specific bronze sculpture to be installed outdoors in Olana's historic fern garden, and a site-specific tapestry to be hung indoors in Olana's main house.

"David Hartt's curation of Frederic Church's photography collection reveals Church's apparent fascination the interactions of human and natural forces in the landscape globally, and how he captured this through his shaping of the land at Olana," said Allegra Davis, Associate Curator with The Olana Partnership. "David's new site-specific artworks explore one aspect of how Church sought to bring the world home to Olana through the creation of a fern garden inspired by the tropical landscape of Jamaica." Olana's historic collection contains over 5,000 nineteenth-century photographs collected by Frederic Church and is a treasure trove of early photography. Church's collection centers around nearly 2,000 travel photographs that span the continents and represent the full spectrum of his era's new photographic technologies. This unique collection survives today as one of the largest intact photography collections assembled during the nineteenth century in the United States, yet aspects of this collection also remain mysterious. About half of the photographs are not yet attributed, and the majority have never been publicly exhibited.

David Hartt is an Associate Professor in the Department of Fine Arts at the University of Pennsylvania. His work unpacks the social, cultural, and economic complexities of his various subjects and explores how historic ideas and ideals persist or transform over time. His solo exhibitions include The Histories at The Hammer Museum, Los Angeles, Coloured Garden at The Glass House (currently on view), New Canaan, Connecticut and the group exhibition, Reconstructions: Architecture and Blackness in America at The Museum of Modern Art, New York. His work is also featured in the public collections of several museums including The Museum of Modern Art, New York, Whitney Museum of American Art, New York, The Museum of Contemporary Photography, Chicago, The J. Paul Getty Museum, Los Angeles, The National Gallery of Canada, Ottawa and The Stedelijk Museum, Amsterdam. TERRAFORMING: Olana's Historic Photography Collection Unearthed was curated by Artist David Hartt, Will Coleman, The Olana Partnership's former Director of Collections & Exhibitions, and Allegra Davis, Associate Curator, The Olana Partnership, with support from Ida Brier, Archivist/Librarian, The Olana Partnership. The exhibition was organized in collaboration with the New York State Office of Parks, Recreation, and Historic Preservation. The exhibition opens on May 14 and will be on view through October 29, 2023. For tickets and additional information, visit OLANA.org/terraforming. This exhibition has been made possible by a grant from the Henry Luce Foundation, support from the donors to The Olana Partnership's Novak-Ferber Exhibitions Fund, and in-kind contributions by the NYS Bureau of Historic Sites, Office of Parks, Recreation, and Historic Preservation. Support for the associated publication has been provided by the Wyeth Foundation for American Art. General support for The Olana Partnership's programs is provided by the New York State Council on the Arts with the support of the Office of the Governor and the New York State Legislature.

A Picture of the Father

By Naomi Fata

There was once a restless young man, who longed for adventure. He wanted to get away from the farm life that he had always known. Maybe he was tired of living in the shadow of an older brother, or weary of being recognized by everyone in his small town. Perhaps he wanted to strike out on his own for adventure, as many young people do. Whatever the reason might have been, he went to his father and asked for the money to make it on his own. In fact, he asked not just for some money but for his whole inheritance.

The father agreed, which isn't particularly common among parents. Most of the time we want to hold the reins of control when young people are still adolescence. I wonder if the father was nervous about what the young man would do with the money.

But the father let go. He let his son go off to seek his fortune - to make his own life for himself. The father let go of control and allowed his son to make his own choices. Those choices didn't turn out so well. In fact, the son wasted all of the money and found himself in desperate need of a job because he didn't even have money left for food. The young man found a job feeding pigs, just so he could also eat some of their slop to keep himself from starving.

One day as he was feeding the pigs it occurred to him that even if he were a servant on his father's farm he would have better lodging and food than he did in his current state. So, he swallowed his pride and went back to his hometown, hoping and believing that his father would hire him on.

By now maybe you've recognized this as a paraphrase of the Biblical account of Luke 15:11-32 (the account of the Prodigal Son).

There are so many life lessons to be learned from this, but let's focus on just one for now. I think of the courage it took for the son to go back. In order to return he had faith in the relationship that he had with his father. He believed in the character of the father enough to trust that his father would not throw him out.

This story is intended to be an image of what God the Father is like. He doesn't control us. When we fight against the restrictions placed on us asking Him to let us go our way, He let's us go. But all the while He awaits our return.

If you have gone your own way, chosen your own path, and have come up penniless, emotionally battered, and empty, He is still waiting to welcome you back. For those who grew up with harsh fathers, who were criticized for every glass of spilt milk, who never had a bedtime story on his lap, going back to the Father can feel intimidating. There is fear of rejection, and anger. But God the Father isn't like that. He is waiting with open arms to welcome you home. Will you go home to Him? ## HONOR OUR MOTHERS!

"Honour thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee" (Exodus 20:12), On May 14 we celebrate Mother's Day, a day set aside to honor our Mothers. While one day is set aside, we are to honor our Mothers every day. Throughout the Bible Godly women have had a big influence on the lives of their children. In the Old Testament Hannah was a Godly Mother to Samuel. In the New Testament both Lois, a Godly Grandmother and Eunice, a Godly Mother taught Timothy the Scriptures. GODLY TESTIMONIES AND EXAMPLES!

It is a blessing to have Godly Mothers and Grandmothers that raise their children in the Lord and are a great testimony and example by the lives of faith in which they live. The Apostle Paul wrote, "When I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and thy mother Eunice; and I am persuaded that in thee also" (2 Timothy 1:5). Paul mentions the sincere faith that was in Timothy, but that it first dwell in his Mother and Grandmother. Parents, it is important that you live Godly lives before your children. They will see in your life how important your Relationship is with God and the Lord Jesus Christ by the example of your life. BEING FAITHFUL IN TEACHING YOUR CHILDREN THE WORD OF GOD!

"And that from a child thou hast know the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus" (2 Timothy 3:15). From a child Timothy was taught the Holy Scriptures. His Mother and Grandmother were faithful in teaching their Son and Grandson the Word of God. Parents, it is so important to spend time teaching your children the Word of God. When the Apostle Paul came through the region in which Timothy lived in Asia (Turkey) Timothy was ready to accept the Lord Jesus Christ as his Personal Savior and Lord. His heart was prepared to receive the truth of the Gospel in which Paul proclaimed. Timothy became a follower of the Lord Jesus Christ and joined Paul on his Missionary Journeys. Timothy was a true servant of the Lord and was a tremendous asset and blessing to Paul. A PARENT'S (MOTHER'S) JOY OF KNOWING THAT THEIR CHILDREN ARE WALKING IN THE TRUTH!

"I have no greater joy than to hear that my children walk in truth (3 John 4). Parents (Mothers). I encourage you to ensure that your children are being faithfully taught God's Word. It is imperative to start at a young age. It should begin at Home, and you should also take advantage of the teaching at a good solid Bible Believing Local Church. GBFC is a great place for your whole family. We have many ministries geared for the whole Family, and especially for Children and Teens.

GARDEN AND PLANT SALE

The Rhinebeck Reformed Church is holding a garden and plant sale on June 2 and 3 to raise funds for the preservation and maintenance of the historic structure that is an integral part of the Village of Rhinebeck. A weekly food pantry is held every Tuesday, and the building used by many organizations, such as the Dutchess County Survivors of Suicide Support Group, Northern Dutchess Beekeepers Club, Sinterklaas, the Rhinebeck Choral Club, and the joint lecture series with the Jewish Federation of Dutchess County. Container plants, hanging baskets, and pots of annuals, small shrubs, and perennials donated from local businesses or dug from local gardens will be offered. Think of us if your perennials or small shrubs need dividing. Someone can help dig and pot if you are unable. We are also asking for lightly used yard decorations, tools, birdhouses, windchimes, lawn, porch furniture, and large size terra cotta planters. Vendor space is available to sell local produce and garden-yard type crafts. ## Germantown Garden Clubs Presents 'Birding 101'

At its April meeting the Germantown Garden Club hosted Katheryn Schneider a Master Gardener volunteer with Columbia/Greene Cooperative Extension, and Columbia Land Conservancy, past president of the NY state Ornithological Association and currently co-chairs the Steering Committee for NY's Third Breeding Atlas Project. She also authored a site guide for bird enthusiasts called "Birding: the Hudson Valley." Katheryn's talk covered the fundamentals of birding, explaining how to choose the correct birding binoculars, field guides, and phone apps to identify different birds and how birders can use computers to expand the birding experience. Sponsoring a bird walk each year, Kathern's talk helped expand a person's horizon so that one can see more birds, grow skills and connect with the broader birding community. The meeting's agenda included plans for next months 'Bird Walk' and plans for the annual Plant, Bake and Tag Sale. This event will be in coordination with the town of Germantown's Town Wide Yard Sale on May 20. All Germantown Garden Club meetings are free and open to the public. For more information call Fran Bufi at 518-537-4868. The Germantown Garden Club is a member of District Three, Federated Garden Clubs of New York State, Inc., Central Atlantic Region and National Garden Clubs.

Grape Toxicosis in Dogs

By Julianne Porter, DVM

Last month, we discussed a toxicity that mainly affects cats (lilies). In this month's article, the focus is on a toxin that seems to target dogs, found in grapes and raisins. Both interesting and concerning, there is a lot that is unknown about grape toxicity in dogs. Not all dogs seem to be affected, and the dose that can cause problems doesn't always seem to be the same either. For over 20 years, veterinarians have observed kidney failure in dogs following grape and raisin ingestion. This reaction occurs from both seeded and seedless grapes. Toxicity has not been reported from grape juice or wine ingestion, but it is still unknown whether those products have toxic potential. Likewise, grapeseed extract has so far not been associated with toxicity. The toxic principle in grapes/raisins has not been confirmed. Studies have investigated heavy metals, fungal infections and pesticides to no avail. More recently, tartaric acid has been implicated. Tartaric acid is found in cream of tartar, tamarinds, as well as grapes. Dogs ingesting cream of tartar and tamarinds have been found to develop kidney failure similar to the kidney failure that dogs develop after ingesting grapes. Furthermore, tartaric acid levels are not consistent in all grapes, which possibly reveals why some dogs are affected while others are not. The amount needed to cause kidney damage is also not straightforward. Veterinarians have seen toxicity with as little as 0.3 ounces of grapes per pound of dog, although it's likely the amount is even lower. This means a 20 pound dog could develop toxicity with 6 ounces of grapes (about 35-40 grapes). With raisins, it is lower - just 1 ounce of raisins could affect a 20 pound dog. There is no specific test for grape/raisin toxicity. Dogs typically present with vomiting, decreased or no appetite, and increased urination. Lab work reveals elevated kidney values as the most consistent finding. The clinical signs, lab work findings, and history of ingestion (if known), allow for the diagnosis of this toxicity. Toxicity tends to occur relatively quickly - signs can develop within a couple of hours and lab work changes can occur within 12-24 hours, but may take up to 72 hours. Treatment focuses on rapid decontamination - vomiting is induced if the dog is not already vomiting, and activated charcoal is typically administered in hopes to bind remaining toxins. Then, dogs are given fluid therapy to try to treat the acute kidney damage that has occurred. They require at least several days of hospitalization and frequent lab work monitoring to track their progress. Unfortunately, the prognosis is quite poor if kidney failure occurs and even worse if dogs stop producing urine altogether. Dogs often succumb to the disease within 5 days of ingestion. However, if decontamination and fluid therapy is initiated early, the prognosis is better. Therefore, if you think your pet ingested grapes or raisins, getting them to the veterinary hospital as soon as you can will be the best chance at survival. While this is a toxicity that seems to target dogs, it is important to point out that anecdotally, cats and ferrets have been suggested to be susceptible. Therefore, it is best not to feed grapes/raisins to these pets as well.

house? Where will he sleep and eat? Who will walk him and clean up after him? As a family, you must all be consistent with your decisions or you will confuse the dog, usually resulting in the dog making his own rules.

Have the necessary items your dog will need from the start: identification tags, collar and 6-foot leash, food and water bowls, food, toys, a crate and bedding and basic grooming tools.

Bring your new dog home when you can be there for a few days so you can get to know each other and establish rules.

At first, limit your dog to one room or area. Allow him time to familiarize himself with the smells and sounds of his new home. Try to limit your time away from home during those first few days. Spending time with him will help him to become more comfortable in his new, unfamiliar home.

Keep your dog on leash for the first few days so you can immediately teach what behaviors are and are not acceptable. NEVER leave the leash on your dog when he is unsupervised. Expect house training accidents. Your dog is in a new territory and is establishing a new routine, so accidents probably will happen. The key is to be consistent, supervise your new dog and maintain a routine.

Dogs instinctively like to den, and a crate makes the ideal place for your dog to sleep and get away from household chaos and commotion. A crate also makes house training, and training in general. The crate should be roomy enough to allow your dog to stand up, turn around, and lie down comfortably. An alternative is to confine him in a smaller, dog-proofed part of your home, such as a laundry room or mudroom. You can use a baby gate or dog gate to block off the area from the rest of the house. Give your dog a space of his own to settle in comfortably.

Most rescued dogs have been given basic vaccinations and many have already been spayed-neutered. If you have adopted your dog, as opposed to temporarily housing him, it is important that your dog be examined by a veterinarian within a week or two after adoption for a health check and any needed vaccinations. Talk to your vet and create a plan for spaying/neutering, if that hasn't already been done.

For the first few days, limit guest visits to allow your dog to get comfortable with his new family. When you do have guests, ask their help in training your dog by instructing

TIPS FOR BRINGING HOME A RESCUE DOG

Presented by Barbara Sweeney Fassett And Bark Busters Home Dog Training Dutchess County

For a variety of reasons, rescue groups and shelters face a never-ending stream of pets in need of temporary foster care and alternate "forever" homes. If you are one of those individuals opening up your heart and home to a needy animal, thank you, thank you, thank you! In the hope of easing that transition, I would like to pass along some tips to help create an environment where you, your family and your new adopted pet can thrive.

Have a set of house rules. Dogs need order and leadership. They are pack animals, so you must be the "pack leader". Your dog needs to know that you're the boss and that there are established rules in his new home. It is best to get him on track from the beginning.

Hold a family meeting to create rules about caring for the dog. Will he be allowed on the couch, the bed, and in all rooms of the them not to pay attention to him until he is calm. One way to communicate this request is to post a sign on your front door informing visitors that you have a new "dog in training" and that you need their help. Oftentimes visitors do not understand that the way they engage the dog can serve to un-do your efforts to provide clear and consistent boundaries and expectations for your dog to live by. Get guidance for training your dog. A well-trained dog is a happier dog and a joy to have around. Dogs NEED a pack leader. If they don't find one, then they will try to become the leader, which can create numerous behavioral problems. Thus, you, and all of the humans in your home, need to be the pack leader. Practice obedience training, set rules then apply them calmly and consistently, and praise, praise, praise your dog's good behavior.

He will see you as his pack leader and will bond more quickly to you. It is amazing how quickly dogs learn what is acceptable and what is not. Dogs have a language of their own, and once we understand it, we can communicate better what we expect of them. And the results? Happy Dogs = Happy Families

Ask A Veteran: WWII Patches
Marck Webster & Bill Payne
During World War II, American Legionnaire Marck Webster's late Mom collected military patches from many of the young men and women who had graduated high school with her. During the War, they served in the U.S. armed forces around the world, and she sewed their patches on a piece of blue cloth as they arrived in the mail. The result is a unique memorial to the service and sacrifices of these heroic Americans. Join Clinton Community library and American Legion members Marck Webster and Bill Payne in their discussion about the Second World War. Thursday April 23 at 12:30 PM

Lunch & Learn: Baseball in American Culture

Baseball first popped up in American culture in the mid-19th century, but it was not until the mid-1880s that baseball achieved a level of prominence away from the field. Casey At The Bat was a poem that appeared in the San Francisco Examiner and took on a life of its own. Take Me Out To The Ballgame is still sung 110 years after it was written. Abbott and Costello's biggest routine was Who's On First. Baseball has been a subject in books, on vaudeville stages, in a Broadway play, in song, in movies and television. Baseball cards played a role in kids growing up and Yogi Berra became an American icon. Presented by Evan Weiner

Learn About a Flower Farm with the Germantown Garden Club

The Germantown Garden Club will hold its next meeting on Tuesday, May 16, beginning at noon, at the Hover Room at the Germantown Library, 31 Palatine Park Rd., Germantown. This month's program will feature a presentation on "All About Shoving Leopard Farm" by Marina Michahelles. Marina is committed to providing the highest quality flowers for the local community, while promoting environmentally and socially sustainable practices. She offers seasonal flower shares (spring bulbs, summer annuals, and fall dahlias). She sells her flowers through Montgomery Place Orchards in Red Hook, as well as to local florists and designers. Marina will talk about the evolution of her small farm from a market garden to a cut-flower operation and will show slides of her favorite crops over the season, from tulips and narcissus, ranunculus and sweet peas in the early summer, to lisianthus and dahlias later in the season and so many more. She will also talk to us about Abloom, her non-profit project that she co-founded in 2015, through which flower arrangements are made and delivered to homeless shelters, hospitals, people in hospice, and assisted living facilities. The flowers are donated by local farmers or "rescued" from weddings and events. The arrangements are made with the help of volunteers. Questions and answers will follow. Refreshments will be served. The meeting is open to the public. For more information, please call Fran Bufi, 518-537-4868.

The Claverack Library Hosts Community Volunteer Recruitment Fair

Claverack Free Library, 9 Route 9H Claverack NY
Volunteers are the heroes of our community. They're the people who step forward when and where their neighbors need them. And they do it because they believe it's the right and decent thing to do.

If you are among these heroes, know that you are appreciated. If you have yet to discover a place to share your time and talents, consider joining us in the Gallery of Claverack Library, on Saturday, June 3rd, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., for Claverack's first - we hope of many - volunteer fairs.

Representatives from all sorts of not-for-profit organizations will be there... with full descriptions of the services their organizations provide our community and ways you can help.

If you have a little time and the desire to make meaningful connections in our community, you're sure to find new friends who share your interests. Here are a few of the organizations that will be there (with more to be added to the library's website):

gives people the opportunity to tour the theater and to see movies on the big screen as they were meant to be seen. We hope that these activities renew people's enthusiasm for cinema and draw attention to the important role the Crandell has played in the community for nearly 100 years." At the event and throughout May, says Brody, "we are encouraging people to consider annual membership in the Crandell. Membership sustains the theater and, increasingly, helps keep the cost of box office tickets low and provides curated film programming through the year." Individual annual membership in the Crandell is $75, and includes $3 off adult tickets and one free popcorn at every regularly scheduled screening, as well as advance purchase of tickets for the nationally acclaimed FilmColumbia festival held in October and additional benefits. The highest membership levels also include free admission to all screenings and invitations to special film events with celebrated film professionals. For information concerning membership and programs of the Crandell Theatre, visit the web site, crandelltheatre.org, or call 518-392-3445. About the Crandell The Crandell Theatre is a 501(c)(3), not-for-profit organization showing a unique weekly blend of commercial, independent, and classic movies curated for the community's enjoyment on the big screen. The theater is supported by ticket sales and earned revenue, contributions of members and friends, and private and public grants, including the New York State Council on the Arts with the support of Governor Kathy Hochul and the New York State Legislature. The nearly 100-year-old theater, Columbia County's oldest and largest single-screen movie house, is listed on the national and state registers of historic places. ## Oblong, Starr & Morton Libraries: Author Talk with Nona Willis Aronowitz Monday, May 8 @ 6:30 pm (at Morton)

Weaving together feminist history, cultural criticism, and memoir, Nona Willis Aronowitz's 2022 book Bad Sex: Truth, Pleasure, and an Unfinished Revolution grapples with the personal, the political, and the often surprising discrepancy between the two. In the lead up to Mother's Day, she'll discuss Bad Sex, bad sex, and how her relationship to her late mother—radical leftist, feminist writer, and rock critic Ellen Willis, who argued that sexual liberation was crucial to women's liberation—shifted and expanded as she delved into her archives.

Tickets are free. Registration is requested. Oblong will have books available for purchase.
