International Building Safety Month

The idea is to raise awareness about the importance of building codes to ensure safety in the spaces in which we live, work, learn, and play.

1. It adds value to life – building safety should not be ignored as it can lead to the loss of lives. This month stresses the importance of the safety and security of buildings for safer & better living.
2. It helps those in need – some people are living or working in spaces that do not meet the building code standards. This month can help them by raising awareness about this cause and ultimately provide them with a better space to live and work.
