Interesting Facts About Joleen

A college professor once gave her paper back, saying quote, "Read this again, notice you have no voice."

She has struggled with dyslexia since childhood.

Teen mom; just 16 when her first was born.

Graduated Lancaster High School (CA) in 2000.

Moved to N. Idaho in 2012, from Huntington Beach, California.

Joleen is married, she enjoys small town life in N. Idaho with her husband and youngest son. She has worked a wide array of jobs: waitress, dental billing, princess house sales, school cafeteria, sales management for 24-hour Fitness, banker at a casino, marketing for a chiropractor, HR, manufacturing, preschool teacher, in home caregiving.

Joleen illustrated her 1st books on her own but enjoys writing much more than she likes to draw.

I'm too picky to illustrate my own work. I have a vision in my head and I want the drawings to do the writing justice.

Joleen Michellie

, mom of three, lives in the woods of Northern Idaho. A far cry from the city streets of Southern California, where she grew up. She resides in a small, rural town with her husband and youngest son. Joleen enjoys traveling to visit friends and family and vacationing on the coast.

She was known as Jo to her family while growing up, It's clear the nickname inspired the name for her publishing company. She started the Jobooks publishing company in 2014. When you think of "self-publishing" you may think of the thousands of companies that have popped up over the years, offering authors the world in exchanged for their hard-earned money. Joleen saw a better way and created jobooks as her very own independent publishing company. She wanted to have complete control over all aspects of her book writing journey.

Joleen Michellie has written, illustrated, published and designed several Children's picture books. Most recently she has released her first mid-grade chapter book, The Case of The Missing Tooth Fairy. She pulls inspiration from her life, not only from her amazing children, but also from the many places she's lived and the vast array of jobs she's had over the years.

Joleen has had a rollercoaster of life events that have molded her into the person and author she is today. Books are her passion and her happy place. She will be attending several book festivals and other events this year as she launches not 1, not 2, but 3 books! The My Time Books were published in February. The Case of The Missing Tooth Fairy launch is happening this April, and she's hoping for the first book of her Plain Jane series to be published sometime in May, (if not sooner).

While she enjoys working at the local school as a sub and running a caregiving business out of her home, it is clear to all who know her, where her passions truly lie. Joleen is on fire. She is determined to make book writing become her day job. There are more exciting things to come as she is also branching out of her comfort zone and into another genre. Joleen is currently writing a YA novel, Fight for America- Regaining Freedom. It's her first attempt at such a large undertaking, and she's loving the challenge. We can expect great things from this ambitious author-preneur.
