

Unity on the Grid

Hunter and Segreto prevail at the 53rd Champions Cup Invitational

The team of John Hunter and Brad Segreto won the 53rd Champions Cup Invitational at Champions Golf Club in northwest Houston by a narrow margin of one stroke Sunday, finishing the week at -20 for a 263 total. It was the lowest winning score at the Champions Cup since 2013.

"Today, we were just trying to keep it rolling," Hunter said Sunday. "We wanted to make a lot of pars and not give anything away. We got off to a good start today by making some big putts on the front nine and continued to fight for pars on the back."

It was a bunched leaderboard heading into Sunday with plenty of former winning teams in the mix. Derek Meinhart and Kyle Maxwell (2015 champions) were the closest