

To Whom it May Concern:

I have worked with Food, Drug & The Bug for the last 6 years between 2 companies that I worked for, and have known the owner, for close to 20. At a century old 480,000 Sq.Ft facility, covering 5 buildings with some having 5-7 floors, this company brought pest control issues from a 10+, to a 1! We trained the staff on what to look for and the importance of removing anything they found. FD&B completely covered the property inside & out, including an adjacent river, and kept all potential problems at bay. They responded quickly to any call made for "out-of-the-ordinary assistance, including a snapping turtle. We went from throwing away hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of infested product, to almost none! We learned how to clean properly to ensure the problem would not return, it didn't, and remained so over the next several years. In a new company, we are again working together to ensure there are no pest control issues. Governmental Auditors & Third Party Auditors alike, from both facilities, have expressed delight with how thorough the Pest Control Programs are and how few issues we had. Years ago, when they were just starting out, many auditors had not heard of them, but today, they are known and well respected for their knowledge and efficient execution. Focusing on just food & pharmaceutical businesses has allowed them to specialize in eradication & prevention of any potential "invasion" problems in those businesses. FD&B not only delivers, but they over-deliver, you will not be disappointed!
