January 12, 2015

I had the pleasure of meeting Chris Del Rossi in the spring of 2014, and after listening to his presentation it was obvious what a significant upgrade his company would make in our pest management program. The level of experience and expertise that he and his people have is extremely impressive. The attention to every detail in his program and his enthusiasm about what he can do to make your facility the best that it can be is very reassuring. The pest management side of our A.I.B. standards is extremely important to us being in the food packaging business. It is imperative that we have the highest quality standards possible. Chris Del Rossi and his Co., Food and Drug and the Bug give us just that.

Thank you
