With recent breakthroughs in medicine, children with life-threatening illnesses are outliving their life expectancies. And the miracle that found Cameron is becoming a reality for many like him. Although there are many foundations that support children with life-threatening illnesses, the Cameron Siemers Foundation for Hope was created to help children transition into adulthood. Our major program is called Life Grants™. Each year, the Cameron Siemers Foundation for Hope awards a minimum of four Life Grants to young adults who are living with life-threatening illnesses. A Life Grant is an award of up to $5,000 to help young adults make a difference in their lives and their communities.

Kids 4 Kids was started by four friends wanted to make a difference. We considered the idea of “kids” assisting other “kids” and thus the name Kids 4 Kids was born. The four friends noticed that many childhood cancer survivors lack the necessities to succeed in school. We imagined we could help childhood cancer survivors obtain school funding and tools otherwise affordable if not for the costly treatment of childhood cancer. This became our main mission: educational support for childhood cancer survivors.

Since our inception in September of 2010 we have raised money to support childhood cancer survivors. K4K has held various fundraisers and received many donations that contributed to our treasury. From pumpkin carving parties to a Rock n’ Roll Spring Fling, we have shown how a group of friends really CAN make a difference. We have already granted a number of scholarships from the money we have raised, providing educational support for cancer survivors in search of higher education.

The cost of higher education is constantly on the rise, making financing a college degree extremely difficult for many families. This is particularly true of the Latino community. In fact, according to the Pew Hispanic Center, 77% of Latinos say that the cost of education is a key reason why they do not go to college or fail to finish once they have started. Given these facts, LNE SC & LULAC partner with companies and grassroots organizations to provide high-need students with scholarship dollars.

LNE SC and LULAC provide a number of important scholarship opportunities; they include awards that range in award amount and have varying eligibility criteria. Some scholarships are available to all post-secondary students regardless of major and others are available to students pursuing specific degrees.
