

The Go-To RESOURCE

Real Estate Newsletter filled with empowering info, insights, and tips to make your home buying, living, and selling journey a success. Curated by Rebecca Childs, Your Real Estate Go-To Girl.

MARKET MADNESS

If you've been following the news, you're probably aware the housing market is experiencing unprecedented demand, despite the pandemic. Buyers are lining up and digging deep to make a move on extremely limited inventory. But why? Discover three critical factors driving this market madness. Click here to read the full article.

SETTING EXPECTATIONS

The home inspection is one of the most critical steps in the home buying process. It can help you avoid a "money-pit" scenario, or it can confirm that the house is a solid investment. To best inform your purchase decision, get a solid understanding of the role and scope of the home inspector's work. Click here to read the full article.

THE RIGHT FIT

When it's time to sell your home, getting off to a good start begins with getting connected to the right agent. Knowing what questions to ask will empower you and minimize headaches down the road. Click here to read the full article.

CLEANING WITH KIDS

With kids spending more time at home, the list of cleaning tasks can seem like it's never-ending. Facing so many items on the to-do list can be overwhelming, especially when parents are managing so many responsibilities in their family and professional lives.

But, having a space that is clean and organized is a benefit for the entire family. Starting with simple routines that get the kids in on the action can be your ticket to cleaning success.

Click here to read the full article.

VACAY AND STAY

As we prepare for our "new normal," more people are looking to maximize their WFA (work from anywhere) liberties by making their vacation destination their permanent residence. Before you make the move, learn about the key considerations for that dreamy relocation.

Click here to read the full article.

FIRST-TIMER TIPS

Beginning the home buying journey can be intimidating, especially for first-timers. There's a lot of information out there, and making sense of it all can be daunting. Get a jump start on the process with this helpful Q&A for first-time buyers.

Click here to read the full article.