

PRODUCTIVITY WITH PURPOSE

PERSONAL PRODUCTIVITY EQUALS TEAM POWER

The success of critical projects and programs requires the skill, energy, and focus of every team member. Research shows that when just one or two team members make even small fumbles (miss deadlines, work on the wrong priorities, or forget tasks), team productivity is cut by an average of 24%.

On the other hand, teams that have a shared process for managing workflow foster trust, engagement, and efficient execution.

PRODUCTIVITY WITH PURPOSE

The Getting Things Done® (GTD®) methodology was developed 30 years ago by New York Times bestselling author David Allen. While David originally developed the methodology by observation, experimentation, and practice, researchers have since shown that the principles taught in GTD relieve cognitive load, allow for increased focus, even result in peak performance and optimal experience, or what is popularly called “flow.”

In other words, GTD isn't only about getting things done. The real promise of GTD is efficient engagement. It's productivity with presence and purpose.

“Your ability to generate power is directly proportional to your ability to relax.”

David Allen
author of Getting Things Done

The GTD® Skillset

GTD teaches skills to help individuals improve focus and productivity and teams to foster trust and efficiency. When used consistently and collectively, they create a “way of working” that help teams produce better results.

01 CAPTURE

Capture every commitment you make, whether to yourself or others.

02 CLARIFY

Identify the very next action you must take to move your commitments towards completion.

03 ORGANIZE

Organize your commitments in a trusted system—an “external brain.”

04 REFLECT & ENGAGE

Consider existing commitments before you make new ones, or say no with integrity.

05 RENEW THROUGH REVIEW

Get clear on your highest priorities and stay engaged with them through regular reviews.

PRODUCTIVITY PAYS

Crucial Learning research shows that a majority of your workforce (60.6%) rarely does an hour or two of deep, focused work each day without distraction. On the other hand, those who use the GTD skills are empowered to eliminate distractions and capture, clarify and organize incoming requests in a way that enables them to focus on the projects and people that are most important.

EFFICIENCY

Nine of ten GTD® graduates report permanently changing a time-management behavior. They also report that their new skills save them an average of 21 to 40 minutes EACH DAY. One in three graduates say they save at least 41 minutes a day as a result of using their GTD skills.

PERFORMANCE

Qualtrics, a leader in customer experience, trained new employees in Getting Things Done to help them onboard quickly. One hundred percent of training graduates reported improvement in their ability to hit deadlines and deliver on commitments. And 96% said GTD helped them improve their daily effectiveness or ability to execute and stay on course.

QUALITY

Using GTD skills, eight out of ten training graduates at MasterControl, a software solutions company, said GTD helped them better process their email inbox. The team also reported a strong correlation between their new GTD skills and a positive trend in customer feedback.

ENGAGEMENT

Teams that have a shared process for managing and executing work also foster cultures of trust and engagement. In the absence of productivity fumbles, coworkers trust that requests and commitments will get done. And when the workload is spread evenly across a team of full contributors, your most valuable players are less likely to burn out. The CEO of Menlo Innovations reports that learning the GTD skills not only generated results, but also reduced stress and increased joy in the workplace.

EXECUTION

Crucial Learning research shows that people who use the GTD skills are 55 times less likely to say they start projects that never get finished and 18 times less likely to say they often feel overwhelmed.

Learning Formats and Participant Materials

Getting Things Done is available in three formats to meet the unique needs of your team or organization. Each format is optimized for skill transference and an engaging learning experience.

ON-DEMAND

On-demand learning offers 4–6 hours of instructional time and 60 days of access for public workshop participants or up to 12 months of access for private sessions.

3 Delivery Options

We also offer three ways to learn: attend a public course, bring in a Crucial Learning trainer, or have an internal leader get certified to train employees.

01 PUBLIC COURSE

Your employees attend an on-demand, virtual, or in-person public course.

Visit CrucialLearning.com/learn to find a public course near you.

02 PRIVATE COURSE

Bring in a Crucial Learning master trainer to facilitate the in-person or virtual course across your organization.

03 TRAINER CERTIFICATION

Certify an internal leader to facilitate the in-person or virtual course to employees. Once certified, trainers purchase learner guides for each individual they train. Trainer certification courses are offered both in-person and virtually.

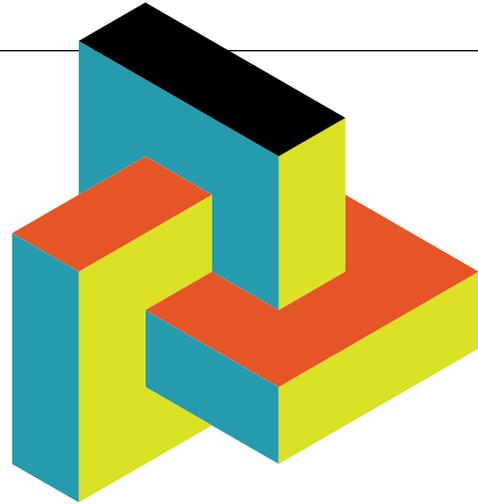

“Crucial Learning’s virtual course has gone so well. We have loved delivering the course at our own pace. The level of interactivity is excellent, and we’ve found it’s easy to keep everyone engaged through a four-hour learning session.”

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

“GTD® has made an impact on in-tact teams in our organization. Some teams I’ve trained have completely revamped the tools they use for tasks so they can all be on the same page or easily pick up tasks for each other when colleagues are out of town. They have also completely shifted the way they conduct meetings. It has made a huge difference for their productivity and team culture.”

Celia Cockfield

Senior Associate, Organizational Development, The Annie E. Casey Foundation

“We love GTD. It has been really impactful for our organization in terms of stress management—it really helps people be more present in their lives because they feel a sense of control and organization when implementing the tools and system. It usually fills up in less than 15 minutes when we offer it, a good sign!”

Sarah Barnhart

Senior Human Resources Manager, Stryker

“Getting Things Done is very applicable to work, home, and life. I feel motivated that I can ‘get control’ of my inputs. During the course I loved that I got to use my actual to-do lists for my exercises—very applicable.”

Jennifer Roberson

Senior Talent and Leadership Development Manager, Stinnett & Associates
