

Cambridge University Clay Pigeon Shooting Club PRIVACY POLICY

This statement explains how the Cambridge University Clay Pigeon Shooting Club (“we”, “our”, and “the Club”) handles and uses the personal data we collect about our members and our past, current and future supporters (“you” and “your”). Collecting this data and developing a better understanding of our members allows us to keep you apprised of our activities and developments. We are committed to protecting your personal information and being transparent about what information we hold.

Personal data that we hold

We may hold information relating to you from a number of sources. A significant proportion of the information we hold is that which you provide to us (for example, you may give us information by filling in forms, or by corresponding with us by email or otherwise).

Most records contain:

- Unique personal identifiers and biographical information (e.g., CRSid, date of birth)
- Your contact details (and we update these whenever you let us know that they have changed).
- Details of your interactions with us, including:
 - Your membership and achievements with us
 - Your attendance at our events
 - Other contact with us or our partners (as listed below)
- Personal data provided by you for a specific purpose (e.g., disability and dietary preferences for event management purposes).
- Your communication preferences, to help us provide tailored and relevant communications.

How we use your data

Your data is used by us for a number of interdependent purposes in relation to Club activities. These include:

- Maintaining your personal details (e.g. your name, photograph, and preferred contact details), including ensuring effective communications with you.
- Keeping financial records (e.g. payment of your membership fees).
- Maintaining a formal record of your activities with us.
- Undertaking research into our activities.
- Providing services.
- Inviting you to our events.
- Internal record keeping, including the management of any feedback or complaints.
- Administrative purposes (e.g., in order to administer an event that you have registered for or attended)

Communications to you may be sent by telephone or electronic means (principally by email), depending on the contact details we hold, the consent that you have provided, and the preferences expressed by you about the types of communications you wish to receive.

If you have concerns or queries about any of these purposes, or how we communicate with you, please contact us using the details listed below.

We will always respect a request by you to stop processing your personal data, and in addition your statutory rights are set out below.

When we share your data with others (our partners)

We share the above categories of data with the University to provide you with a coordinated approach and for specific purposes, such as for registration as a University Sports Club, to provide your blues and sporting records. Any transmission of data to or from the University is managed through agreed processes which comply with relevant data protection legislation. The University has its own data protection statement and procedures.

We use Google Drive to securely store electronic copies of personal information.

Additionally, we share the above categories of data on a considered and confidential basis, where appropriate, with selected companies who provide products and services that we endorse, e.g., for Club stash orders.

How we protect your data

We ensure we have appropriate data sharing arrangements in place before sharing your personal data.

We do not sell your personal data to third parties under any circumstances.

We also facilitate communication between individual members, but in doing so we do not release personal contact details without prior permission.

Any transfers of your data overseas (outside of the European Economic Area), as set out above, are protected either by an 'adequacy decision' by the European Commission (declaring the recipient country as a 'safe' territory for personal data) or by standard contractual clauses adopted by the European Commission (which give obligations for the recipient to safeguard the data). Further information about the measures we use to protect data when being transferred internationally is available from us (via the contact details are set out below).

Your rights

You have the right to:

- ask us for access to, or rectification or erasure of your data
- restrict processing (pending correction or deletion)
- object to communications or direct marketing
- ask for the transfer of your data electronically to a third party (data portability)

You have the right to lodge a complaint with the Information Commissioner's Office at <https://ico.org.uk/concerns/>

Further information

The legal basis for processing your personal data for the interdependent purposes set out above is that it is necessary for the pursuit of our legitimate interests, in order for the Club to run effectively and efficiently. We always handle your personal data securely and minimise its use, and there is no overriding prejudice to you by using your personal information for these purposes. In addition, there is no statutory or contractual requirement for you to provide us with any personal data.

The controller for your personal data is the Cambridge University Clay Pigeon Shooting Club, and we can be contacted at cucpsc@gmail.com.

Please contact us if you have any concerns or questions about the above information or you wish to ask us not to process your personal data for particular purposes. Where you have specific requests relating to how we manage your data, we will endeavour to resolve these, but please note that there may be circumstances where we cannot comply with specific requests.

We will retain your data for the duration of your membership of the Club, or until you request us to do otherwise. We will publish any changes we make to this data protection statement and notify you by other communication channels where appropriate.

Where you exercise your right to erasure, we will continue to maintain a core set of personal data (name and membership details) to ensure we do not contact you inadvertently in future.
