CRIME PREVENTION THROUGH ENVIRONMENTAL DESIGN COURSE

Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design, or C.P.T.E.D. (pronounced sep-ted) as it is more commonly known, is a proven set of design principles that are internationally recognized and used by planners, designers, police officers, security professionals, academics, educators, retailers and others to reduce the fear and incidence of crime as well as improve the quality of life. CPTED principles are extremely versatile and cost effective when applied at the design stage. C.P.T.E.D. principles have been adopted by many North American municipalities and planning departments.

Tom McKay, Canada's foremost CPTED instructor, will instruct the course. Tom is the author of dozens of CPTED articles, President of the International Society of Crime Prevention, the founding Chair of CPTED Ontario and the recipient of the ISCPP's George B. Sunderland Lifetime Achievement award and the prestigious Herman Goldstein Excellence in Problem Solving award by the Police Executive Research Forum in Washington D.C., an organization that has recognized Tom as a subject matter expert.

This specialized CPTED course will provide you with a thorough understanding of the standard principles and strategies while giving you an opportunity to work on real life problems.
