Paladin can create the custom media center you have always desired or you can select from one of our three standard styles – Columbia, Oxford and Arcadia. The Columbia and Arcadia series are constructed from 1" rift-cut red oak veneer plywood, while Oxford is made from 1" solid northern-grown red oak. The Arcadia features an optional circular or semi-circular modular circ desk configuration and all units are standard with integrated top down wire management. The Oxford series has a more traditional history yet offers some of our most innovative modules, such as the Tilt-Bin Book Drop with book truck included. Paladin also manufactures stand-alone display units and auxiliary circ desk pieces, including the Mobile Information Desk with slat wall front panel. Our displays include unique designs like the Mobile Grid display and a clean modern design in the new Oval Magazine Spinner.

Paladin Caseworks offers complete media room solutions – library furniture, display furniture and custom designed furniture. Furniture is created from oak, cherry, maple and walnut, with a mix of supporting materials, such as Corian, acrylic, glass, metal, slat wall and melamine. In addition, we work with a wide range of laminate manufacturers – Wilson Art, Nevamar, Pionite, Formica, LaminArt, Abet Laminati and ARPA. Standard and custom edge banding is available and we offer stain matching to your existing color scheme.

Who

will be sitting in your library? Someone brimming with creativity who will become a great writer or composer? A budding scientist? A future educator?

Perhaps even someone who decades from now will serve as President of the United States?

Whether these young people will go on to achieve greatness or simply become solid citizens, the library should be a place of comfort and pleasure where they are free to pursue their own dreams. Research shows that students who frequently visit the library improve their reading and writing skills. Aesthetically appealing furniture can go a long way in making the library a place where students want to be.

Libraries should be user-friendly places for discovery. Choosing furniture wisely will do much to create a comfortable, visually stimulating library interior – a memorable place that will inspire creativity. While a library needs to promote an atmosphere of learning, the furniture helps create an environment where anything is possible from self-directed learning to group research work.

At Paladin Caseworks, we strive to create library furniture that emphasizes both form and function – furniture that is pleasing to the eye and practical to use.
