Summary

Xiang “Leo” Liu is an advisory board member at the Newton Youth Commission, which helps encourage, support, and protect the youth in the city that he is living in. In 2021, he placed Fourth in the MJDJ Tourney 1 for best speaker, an award that he is extremely proud of, having only lived in the United States for a year with English as his second language. Right now, as the president of his school senate, he believes that the stagnant “now” will never end if the voice of the younger generation isn’t heard by the older generation. Leo was selected as a TEDx Speaker at TEDxEustis 2022 conference, and he is also the Founder, Director & CEO of, team Super Meteors, an AAU basketball team in his community, which he founded to ensure the local kids will have a place to play basketball if they want it.

In his spare time, he loves to write! Which he is a current Researcher & Journalist for The Cubix.

Leo lives by the following stance: Everyone is an educator in their own different way, and teaching is the most important job in the world. They are the lighthouses that guide the youth, and they are the people who are entitled to help the youth to change the world.
