COMPLAINT

Dear Secretary of State Office:

We are concerned that the organization trading as B-360 may be violating solicitation law in the State of Maryland. B-360's legal name is Be The Revolution, LLC.

Specifically, B-360 has represented to the public that it is a "non-profit" organization in Baltimore, Maryland, and has been running these false claims since 2017. However, B-360 is not actually registered as a non-profit according to the State of Maryland. See Documentation No. 1 and No. 2

The Secretary of State Office has reported that no records can be found that B-360 is a "non-profit" organization. Yet, B-360 has continued to represent in public that B-360 is a non-profit organization.

Under the Maryland Solicitations Act, an organization that intends to solicit in Maryland generally must first register with the State of Maryland's Secretary of State Office. In addition to requiring annual registration and reporting, this law also prohibits deceptive acts and false and misleading statements in charitable solicitations.

Since 2017, B-360 has never complied with the Maryland Solicitation Act, according to the State of Maryland's Secretary of State Office.

Most recently in late March 2022, B-360 launched a $10 Million solicitation campaign again misrepresenting that B-360 is a non profit and is soliciting millions of dollars from the public. See Documentation No. 3 and No. 4

All companies including B-360 must comply with the Maryland Solicitations Act.

We are concerned that B-360 may be violating solicitation law in the State of Maryland.

Baltimore Organization To Campaign For Permanent Dirt Bike Park

BALTIMORE (WJZ) — Baltimore City is set to announce an investment into young dirt bike riders in the city by supporting an organization that connects bikers with work and learning opportunities.

The organization hopes to raise millions to bring Baltimore a permanent urban dirt bike park in a bid to keep bikers from run-ins with the law.

B-360 is a Baltimore-based nonprofit that says it trains young dirt bike riders in STEM programs and helps them grow transferable skills for career development.

The city on Friday is set to declare March 25 "B-360 Day," which is when the organization will launch #Ride4Change, a capital campaign to raise $10 million for a permanent dirt bike park and education campus in the city.

The proposed campus would include an indoor and outdoor riding course, an educational space where children and young adults can enroll in STEM programs and an auto body shop where riders can apply their skills practically, the organization said.

City leaders, including Mayor Brandon Scott, will be present for the announcement Friday outside the War Memorial Hall on Gay Street.

B-360 has worked with over 7,000 students since it started in 2017. In addition to after-school and summer programming, B-360 hosts events which include opportunities to try out dirt biking. To learn more, visit their website.
