Native American public speaker, journalist and author Vincent Schilling, the author of “Native Musicians in the Groove” and other titles, has been a journalist and editor in the fields of Arts and Entertainment for approximately twenty years and in that time has covered a plethora of topics on Indigenous musical artists all over the world.

He has covered nearly every genre of music to include hip hop, country, reggae, electronic, traditional and more. He has interviewed award-winning Grammy winning artists as well as artists at every stage of their careers. Join us as we explore the the range of musical artists all over Indian Country.

This program will be held virtually. To attend via Zoom, scan the QR code or register via the link in upcoming events on nativeamericanstudies.org. Please direct any questions or comments to the Center at 803-313-7172 or usclnasp@mailbox.sc.edu.
