A Visit With Dr. John

I am writing just a couple days after Hurricane Ida made landfall. Our Disaster Relief Team has been in communication with the State Director. They are anticipating leaving in a couple of days.

It would be difficult for me to express how much I appreciate the men and women who trained for this kind of mission, then take vacation time in order to go to help people in distress. They go, not to help their families or kinsmen, but to give up their time, energy, and training to help people they don't even know. They go to make life better for victims of natural disaster.

Their going and working is a testimony of their Christian walk. These workers talk about how the Lord has blessed them and saved them. They go to honor Him, to serve others in His name, and hopefully, to introduce people to Him. Their work is difficult, tiring, and dangerous. They gladly put their lives on the line.

All of us should be proud of them. They not only represent the Lord, they represent us here in Coffee County. Their efforts should inspire many of our people to take the training and join them in their heroic efforts.

Let me thank the WMU association team for leading us to do the annual Prayer Walk of Schools. Peggy Stroud takes the primary role in getting everything set for this endeavor. Because of Covid, numbers were down quite a bit from previous years. Still, nearly 300 people gathered at schools across our county to pray for the students and school workers. If ever our children and faculty/administration/staff needed prayer, it is now. So, thank you WMU and all the people who took part in leading at the various schools. Thank you to everyone who made it a priority to pray for these people. May we be praying for them throughout the year!
