enrollment grew as the wave of increased enrollments graduated up. Further, more schools have been built. Trends have to be watched and SCA staff is balancing that with not overreacting to an unusual situation.

Regarding the leasing of St Francis Xavier School: SCA is closed with the Diocese to lease the site.

Regarding accessibility at sites: There is a lot of catching up to do. SCA has an accessibility team, and they will follow up with the names of the people on this team.

Regarding the scaffolding on BNS and contractors without masks on site: Safe Work Plan protocols are in place and should be followed. If someone is seen not wearing a mask, for example, reach out to DSF.

Anyone found not wearing a mask will not be allowed to work at the school. People who are not abiding by the protocols will be removed from the job.

b. State and City Education Budget discussion

Letter from PTA presidents on school budgets

We, the concerned PTA presidents within Brooklyn School District 15, are writing to bring attention to the dire financial crisis schools across the city, including in our district, are facing this year. The situation is exacerbated by our state government's refusal to give schools their fair share of federal funds along with the call for schools with Covid-related enrollment loss to "owe" funds back to the DOE.

The DOE is attempting to reclaim these funds due to decreased enrollment at a time when our Covid-related expenses to running safe schools are skyrocketing. Owing the city funds, in some cases upwards of $600,000, due to temporary enrollment loss will create a catastrophic downward spiral for our schools. When schools lose critical funding, we also lose the ability to retain our families, resulting in even more funding loss. The current system is untenable and adding financial stress during a pandemic is simply indefensible.

Our school administrations are taking on heroic efforts to simultaneously fund two brand-new and completely different school models during this time: hybrid and remote. The costs of running these programs effectively are unprecedented and required a wild reimagining of what the definition of school is. Our city leaders have a mandate to ensure our students are academically and emotionally supported, engaged and educated during this time of crisis. Schools need additional technology, additional resources to meet the emotional strains brought on by the pandemic and additional staff. To accomplish this, our schools need an increase in funding, not cuts.

We are calling on our city and state leaders to create a new model for funding and to adopt provisions to hold schools harmless for any drops in enrollment, especially during the pandemic. We are also calling on our state government to give schools their fair share of federal funds. Last year, our government cut school funding by the same $1.1 billion that the federal government granted.

Our children are living through a once-in-a-century pandemic. Many of them have lost close family members and friends to this virus. This is not the time to have them suffer additional cuts in their schools as well.

Some of our schools are facing this crisis of "owing" funds. Other schools do not—but we are standing in solidarity with all schools, parents, and educators across the district and the city in saying no to these outrageous moves, no to cuts, and yes to investment in our schools and our children.

- 15 schools signed on. This issue was posed to the chancellor this weekend. Verbally, he stated that if he were to hold schools harmless for lost enrollment, the schools that needed the funding for new students wouldn't have it.

A spreadsheet to report the amounts owed by schools to date shows that PS 58 owes the most, with PS29 and PS 321 close behind. There is a pattern of lost enrollment in the more affluent schools as those are the families with more flexibility to work from home and transfer out of the city. CEC's upcoming calendar meeting is a joint meeting with the president's council where this issue will be discussed more.

- On March 18th, there will be a "Charters 101" town hall with members of the ECC Charter Committee. Of note, Governor Cuomo never gave public schools their CARES Act money, even though Charters received both federal PPP and CAREs. Further, Cuomo appears to have a number of gifts for the Charter industry in his budget including the re-issuance of zombie charters (charters that were relinquished or closed) and shifting the entire burden of rental reimbursements on private space to NYC with the stated intention of creating more charter co-locations.
