Dear Craig:

I am writing this letter in support of Becky Epps running for one of the three Board of Director positions at NCATC's 2019 Fall Conference. I am aware that if elected, Becky will serve a four-year term and be expected to attend three Board meetings each year and participate in monthly conference calls.

As the manager of St. Louis Community College's Center for Workforce Innovation, Becky and her team offer short-term, technical training for the St. Louis community and companies, including a pre-employment program to one of the largest employers in the St. Louis region. Her experience with the Center for Workforce Innovation, since its opening in 2011, and program management several years prior, make her an ideal candidate for the NCATC Board of Directors.

I met Becky shortly after starting at the College and found her to be competent, professional and possessing the highest ethical standards.

Sincerely,

Jeff L. Pittman, Ph.D.
Chancellor
