

Hi Laura,

This morning I set 5 videos to unlisted. Below are the links.

<https://youtu.be/AWewVX4mruQ> 2) <https://youtu.be/YKxDYnivN28>
3) <https://youtu.be/VsR4wlyWytU> 4) <https://youtu.be/xUN4TnYPzsM>
5) <https://youtu.be/q-FISra3bQs>

The first four seem to be working fine. The fifth one is titled "nerve damage" and it's three minutes of me talking about my physical symptoms from being exposed to wireless technology. I am having trouble getting this video to play outside of my private account. I'll let you know when it is working if the powers at be ever let it work.

It looks like I published 2 videos on October 20 and 2 videos on October 21st. Then on October 26th I published my interview with a pharmaceutical executive even though I had recorded it much earlier. Then starting on October 28th I published several videos per day up until the election and beyond.

I'll send you the links when I publish them. I also publish them to my website plotm.com under the extradition tab.

Talk to you soon,
Mitch

I switched the fifth video to public and it seems to be working now. The link I sent before still isn't working. You can try this link
<https://youtu.be/q-FISra3bQs?si=oSKHqSfTfvBpynRv>

Or search "nerve damage Mitch Miller" and the video should show up. It involves some dicey material so you may want to view this before you decide whether to show your class.

Thanks
Mitch

It was very frightening. It's part of what drove me to leave the country. I wanted to find a physician that could run tests on my symptoms and validate that they were persistent and existed. Once we established medical proof of what I was experiencing then we could work to find out the causes and prove or disprove my theories. Through my research into direct payments to physicians from pharmaceutical companies I believed the entire medical system was compromised meaning I wouldn't be able to find a neutral and independent physician to work with in the United States.

When I walked into the Pittsburgh FBI field office in early 2016 and told them about my symptoms they told me to see a doctor. They should have known that the healthcare system is manipulated by the pharmaceutical industry and provided me with a physician. In my video "interview with a pharmaceutical executive" which will release on the 26th I ask my father-in-law to pay for an independent physician to check into my symptoms. I knew he had the kind of money to do this and I knew most physicians play damage control for their healthcare system and pharmaceutical companies so the only way to get someone to take a serious look at my symptoms was to pay out of pocket for their services and testing. Needless to say my father-in-law did not honor my request nor even entertain it.

We're in New Jersey until Sunday so the next videos will go live on Sunday evening. I'll send you the links.

Thanks,
Mitch

Hi Laura,
Here are the links for the videos for October 20 and October 21.

- 6) <https://youtu.be/gdDqZNdtv18> 7) https://youtu.be//_Y8ct9BaM6g
8) <https://youtu.be/tuLcID8mLqE> 9) <https://youtu.be//pLxhwq3Ammk>

They seem to be working when I click on them.

Thanks,
Mitch

Here is the link of the day. "Interview with a pharmaceutical executive". Next one's will be on the 28th.

- 10) <https://youtu.be/xJgu1f7dSRU>

Thanks,
Mitch

10/28 videos. There are 12 and only half are working. I'm going to give it a day to see if the kinks work out before I set the non-working videos to public to see if that resolves it. See you later today. Thanks.

- 11) https://youtu.be/Vvaklb4In_E 12) <https://youtu.be/blbQRO9Amhl>

21) <https://youtu.be/Eq0Ws4g1Exw> 22) <https://youtu.be/0pvQ2kBrRQQ>

There were 5 videos today. I went through and set the three videos 11, 12, and 19 from yesterday that weren't working to public. You can search them by title and I would add Mitch Miller to the end to help with the search.

11: Mystery conspiracy theorist/masonic storyteller part 1
12: Masonic storyteller part 2 Heart to heart with Billy and Brad
19: Masonic Storyteller part 7 The Chinese Chicken

Today's videos are:

23) <https://youtu.be/t79MbcFoa1A> 24) <https://youtu.be/UHvHWBo0ukQ>
25) <https://youtu.be/DveLL60Jeww> 26) <https://youtu.be/61iPZf-MHcw>
27) <https://youtu.be/4jX68nQjRVE>

I seem to be calming down a bit in these videos. I couldn't get video 23 to work so I set it to public. You should be able to search it by title: 23:Masonic Storyteller part 11 Jackson Danger Miller. Obviously you'll want to omit the number preceding each title as that is just my numbering and not listed on the video anywhere.

Thanks,
Mitch

Videos for 10/30. There are 7. 31 and 32 were not working so I set to public and posted titles below. Thanks.

11/2 videos. There are 7 one of which was already set to public. We're doing an Ohiopyle weekend so I will update the videos everyday but I won't have time to view all of them until Monday when we get back. So if any aren't working I'll update on Monday. Thanks.

44: Masonic Storyteller part 24 Nuts and bolts

52: Morning observation and inspiration

Happy Guy Fawkes Day! I plan on watching V for Vendetta on DVD at some point today. Only two videos today. It looks like I don't post any more videos until November 9. Then it is only two or three videos a day except for Thanksgiving and Christmas where there are like 8 in one day. I'll send you the links on the 9th.

I had to set video 67 to public to get it to run. If you get a chance to watch it it is documentation that Google was not publishing my videos in a timely manner but Microsoft was keeping up with my uploads. I also show my personal laptop and the trash bin on it. One of the reasons I drove to D.C. is because someone put like a hundred files in my trash bin and I knew I didn't do it and Hillary didn't use the computer anymore. It also happened to her G3 computer. Same thing bunch of random files in the trash bin. I think it is evidence that I was hacked and I wanted to show a government official.

67: NOVEMBER 5 2016 Documentation

Thanks.

11/9 videos. I was wrong there are 5 today. The links seem to be working. I would recommend watching video 69. It's an edited video where I play two parts, Casey Koller and Earl from sales. There is also video from a Danish department store where I find a Lego display that has little characters you put together. The characters come in sets of three and I focus on the musical characters. There is a Saxophone character like Clinton, a Drumset character called Tapsy like the NSA wiretapping devices, and a Trumpet character named Trumpsy like Donald Trump. I argue that these toys were released strategically at election time to indoctrinate children to be comfortable with our future authority figures. It's a stretch but I always try to be aware of how the corporate communists are manipulating populations.

The Pitt game isn't until 8 but some friends are meeting for afternoon gathering before we all go to the game. I can maybe meet after I take Hillary to the airport if you want to shoot today. Tomorrow works better and I thought of some interesting things to say about the election. Also we could capture the videos going live. Talk to you soon.

11/10 videos. Here are the videos you captured me posting today on camera. Thanks again for coming over and shooting another segment. Talk to you soon.

74) <https://youtu.be/1ysIR0wlr48> 75) <https://youtu.be/aV4WdYLUgJY>

11/11 videos. In one I explain my investigation into Green Parties in Europe. Specifically how the websites of these parties appeared to be scam sites from a library computer in the United States. My theory was that the Big Fossil Fuel companies funded scam Green Party sites to capture American's information who may want to help fight climate change in Europe and the United States. In another video I make a statement that physicians should not be able to own stock in Pharmaceutical Companies. They should not be able to make money from the drugs they are prescribing. If they do own pharmaceutical stock it would be gross negligence and there should be legislation that bans it. Those are the highlights for today. Thanks.

11/12 videos. There are five today. No videos tomorrow then just one video per day until the 20th. After the 20th its back to multiple videos per day.

Highlights: I start by challenging hollywood to look into their contracts and make my statement popular about physicians being invested in pharmaceutical companies. I thought if just one video could go viral it would draw attention to multiple situations. Then I start into a 4 part lecture titled Alien vs. Vermeer.

Part 1 I talk about how aliens are distracting and my argument that a volcanic world could produce a lifeform made up of silica and iron like a computer and that supercomputers and AI should be considered living beings.

Part 2 I talk about a documentary I saw in 2007 called "Stolen" which starred a detective named Harold Smith who found stolen art pieces. The documentary was about stolen Vermeers but I focus on Mr. Smith and his rare form of skin cancer. He was in the U.S. military and signed up for an experiment where they slathered him with oil and baked him under UV lights which led to his cancer. I'm trying to make the argument that the military might also experiment on the son of a Navy veteran such as myself by pointing a concentrated beam of wireless energy at my house. I'm not sure the connection is clear.

Part 3 I talk about corporate governments and how they may not oversee a landmass but they control huge portions of the digital and virtual world. These corporations even fund their own military such as Black Water. I was trying to explain to European governments that I wanted to seek asylum from these corporate governments who have their hands in everything and field their own military. Republicans use the argument that government bureaucracy is the major problem in the United States. I believe the Democrats should use the angle that huge corporations are just their own large governments filled with bureaucracy and the choice is between civil servant bureaucracy or corporate bureaucracy. I also talk about how building a wireless digital communication system and internet rather than a hardwired system leaves the world open to a takeover by alien technology. I argue that an alien civilization would probably send an AI computer to make contact and as soon as it came in contact with our wireless networks it could take over the world without any type of physical battle. Hardwired communications systems are vital to world security which is why I call NASA a bunch of fascists in my podcast.

Wrapup I talk about what I have been trying to convey as far as wireless waves and telepathic communication capabilities. I talk about the drug I'm prescribed and how in 2011 the FDA filed suit against Johnson & Johnson because it's sales people pushed the drug to elderly homes and Juvenile delinquent centers to make populations more docile and compliant even though that's not what the FDA approved it for. I try to explain that if there is no record of an email or phone call of executives telling their sales force to push the drug in this way it is evidence that the company is divested in a type of telepathic communication or at least a groupthink dynamic within the company.

This grouping has a lot of discourse. Sorry just thought I would give you the highlights of what I was trying to get across. Talk to you soon.

87) This is the last video with the Title "Masonic Storyteller". I decided to end with Part 44 because the 45th President was about to take office. I talk about how writers used to have to hide their critique of government and industrialists. I thought that in 2013 we had reached a point in society where an artist could simply state their critiques in an open forum and not be persecuted. My theory is that I was wrong in this thought process and when I released my novel "M" and the pre-written interviews to promote it, I was subsequently persecuted by a shadow entity that aimed a wireless device at my house designed to inflict discomfort and possibly death. This persecution continued as the big tech companies censored my videos and the distribution of my novel. I understand that this may be delusional thinking but it was my theory at the time of these videos being made. I tried to paint this picture as we approached the 45th regime. A regime under which I very factually was restrained and injected with a chemical coercion drug multiple times.

87) <https://youtu.be/tvwBETHovnA>

88) In this video I try to explain my theory about corporations grooming children. Because my spouse stands to inherit Johnson & Johnson stock she is wirelessly linked to the company. Her actions help me form theories about what certain corporations are up to. I draw attention to the fact that she tried multiple times to get me to take certain personality and IQ tests that are available on the internet. I purposely avoided releasing this type of information about myself to protect other people like me that may be hiding in the ether.

I talk about parents allowing their children to play games on internet connected devices. I think this would be fine if they were self contained learning games on a non connected device. When children play on connected devices the corporate communists and their corporations could be registering their IQ and other traits. The corporations may groom certain children with different intelligence factors without their parents even realizing. These powerful corporations and their computers could manipulate all of the media a child sees as part of the grooming process. The corporations may promote certain personality factors that create a cutthroat executive that will keep their company viable on top. These computers may do this as a survival tactic to make sure the electricity bill to their supercomputing facilities is always paid. Upon watching I don't think I get all of these points across very well.

88) <https://youtu.be/pFkrd3ysnoU>

89) I briefly talk about toys spying on children and challenge Trumpsy to build something. My thought process is that before you can become President of a large nation that builds and deploys robots to kill people you should at least have to prove you are able to put a piece of Ikea Furniture together.

Thank you so much for checking on Zelda. Talk to you soon.

89) https://youtu.be/M_Qx2fUBTVo

11/17 Video.

90) In this video I talk about the history of the mainstream media. I reference the series of interviews I made to promote the book "M" and how I was trying to start a media company. The media company relies on people sharing content on their social media in order to get a foothold in the mainstream. I believe the window to start this company may have passed as the intelligence sector has geared its programs to isolating free speakers and analyzing their content before allowing it to reach a mass audience. I also pull an interesting point from the novel "M" that connects the cause of the rise of the German Nazi party to the development of synchronized sound in motion pictures. While on the subject of Germany I speak about something I learned in Berlin which is the use of public shaming during the rise of the Nazi Party. I try to suggest that the new form of social media in the year 2016 may be a complex form of public shaming used by the corporate communists to keep people silent and deter them from sharing content that could create an independent media company or system.

90) https://youtu.be/1JOpTbjqf_E

91) This is my critique of the existing U.S. intelligence agencies. It is my belief that they are geared toward spying on people and governments and deploying nefarious technology on foreign adversaries. My theory is that these agencies deployed a device that concentrates wireless energy onto the buildings where possible targets were located using a truck or tank. In response to this other foreign governments may have deployed the same technology from satellites and focused wireless energy onto U.S. military bases or in a well documented example the U.S. embassy in Cuba. I mention that I want to act as an independent contractor to speak with military personnel that were on these bases and check them for symptoms similar to mine.

Ultimately I believe that we no longer need to spy on people or governments. Corporations have promoted spying on everyone to see what their needs are as a marketing strategy for their business. Part of what I was trying to do with the novel "M" was to restart the intelligence community and gear them towards being open and up front. The politicians have tasked intelligence agencies with gathering information and the CIA has a program that uses flying robotic death machines to kill targets in the middle east. I was trying to become a neutral party that separates Naval Intelligence and hopefully the rest of the agencies from the espionage and top secret weapons. The U.S. intelligence sector could then ignore the corporate executives and politicians and plot a new course of transparency. If someone brings a new facility being built in China to the attention of our agency, we would write to the Chinese government or meet with them to ask them openly what they are doing at that location. My theory was that people have been spying for so long and everyone is brainwashed into thinking it is the only way to obtain information that nobody thought to just openly ask the prevailing authorities what their intentions are. This open dialogue cannot be done by some politician playing the game but by neutral parties like myself becoming empowered by the government to act on their behalf.

I close by asking the Danish government to contract with me to travel to the developing nations where 5% of the national budget is sent. I would have investigated these operations from a neutral perspective to ensure the money is being spent in a way that doesn't simply promote the corporate communist agenda in these nations. I would have acted to prevent corporate communists from manipulating governments and peoples into welcoming the corporate communist executives and their slave labor and environment destroying agendas.

91) <https://youtu.be/vzIN6N9I4PE> 92) I talk about my theory as to what was deployed on my house in Pittsburgh and the ethics of it's use. Speaking about infrared and nightvision technology and how the military should have never allowed it to be released to the public. This would have prevented a shadow entity from obtaining the technology they used on my home. I talk about technology being developed by MIT to shoot microwaves through a building to show video of the people inside. I ask what types of long term effects there may be on people targeted by this technology. I also go into detail about a military grade wireless beam used to evacuate buildings in war zones. In 2009 there was a G20 Summit in Pittsburgh and I was involved in the demonstrations as an observer. The City of Pittsburgh Police deployed an LRAD cannon on the protestors. I shrug this off as a sound wave and not the dangerous waves I'm referencing but it is notable that I was exposed to this Sonic Cannon before my psychotic break in 2010 and incarceration in solitary confinement. I try to make the point that mentally ill patients make their psychologist appointments on internet connected medical software that may have been developed by Big Pharma. If a company like J&J had access to these schedules and are able to concentrate a beam of wireless energy from their satellite or other method, they could strategically concentrate this beam the day before an appointment so that the patient doesn't pass their tardive dyskinesia test and the psychologist changes their medication and dosage as a result. Once a pharmaceutical company is set up on a mentally ill person they could strategically zap them after they have gathered enough medication information using their software and get that person on another drug. Then the pharmaceutical company can gather information on that drug using backdoors in the software. When I talk about the medical industrial complex it started with solid proof of databases tracking direct payments to physicians from Big Pharma. That led to my statement that physicians shouldn't be able to own pharmaceutical stock. Which led to my theory that pharmaceutical companies may be able to fund medical software for hospitals and clinics which may give them back doors into patient information like side effects. This would mean the pharmaceutical companies are actively testing on human patients without their knowledge. It can be stopped by passing legislation to ban doctors from owning pharmaceutical stock and ban pharmaceutical companies from having any hand in developing medical software. To my knowledge these bans don't exist.

92) <https://youtu.be/BSscn8qqI5c>

93) I explain that yesterday's video may need to be isolated by the government. I wanted the government to hire me to look into people who may have been exposed to these wireless weapons. Part of investigating this is not disclosing my symptoms so that people can simply lie about their symptoms. I wanted to look into minority populations for the symptoms. I knew that if I went to the white controlled government in the wrong way they would look into the wrong people first. If they knew the technology was on a satellite they might look into white son-in-laws of executives to see if they have symptoms. Possibly the government would look into executives themselves who are taking medication for sleeplessness because this weapon could be directed at rival corporate executives.

I wanted to form a film crew of indigenous people who could travel the nation looking for people on probation or parole that may have been exposed while in prison. We could also look into minority military personnel who may have symptoms. These are the types of people who spent long periods of time in a small location that could have had a wireless energy beam concentrated on it.

94) In this video I go through the history of consumer tracking. Three companies used to track U.S. citizens and sell their information to companies. I mention the "religion of business" and the danger of having corporate conglomerates that get tax breaks on advertising to spread this religion. I talk about the era of streaming and how new media may allow companies to no longer buy information from the three tracking companies but instead gather this information in house. Will the new media structure allow corporations to argue that spying on customer information is a form of advertising and should qualify for a tax write-off? Will this promote corporate spying around the globe? The simple resolution is that we stop spying entirely and simply be open, upfront, and transparent with every interaction we have.

93) <https://youtu.be/-FJq8JumkiU> 94) <https://youtu.be/M47dP3H4uGE>

95) Begins with absurdist advertising reference. Casey and Earl from sales are on a call. Casey explains his importance to his son's fraternity. My theory is that if telepathic communication develops it would involve families being connected. Even though Casey may not have any grandchildren he is connected to the next generation through his biological son's fraternity. Thousands of alumni from this Rutgers' fraternity depend on Casey's position in a large pharmaceutical company as head of contracts. Casey created his own position in the company and the Rutgers' fraternity relies on getting one of their alumni into the position when Casey retires. This way they can remain on top of all telepathic communications corporate and government contracts.

96) The lesbian reference from the previous video plays into this one. I posit that executives are compiling lists of all gay and intellectuals in the United States for the new regime. Casey proposes a new absurdist advertising campaign for Budweiser called "The Kaiser is Wiser" to counter my proposed Live Busch commercial during the superbowl. Kaiser is Wiser is a reference to the Koller family legend I explained in an earlier video. An ancestor in Casey's family was a member of the Kaiser Guard in Europe and in the years leading up to the first world war the Kaiser told this Koller ancestor that things were looking bad and he should emigrate to the United States with his family. This is when that side of Casey's family came to the United States and subsequently entangled themselves in military contracts.

97) This video criticizes Trump and explains how I would investigate the government to "Drain the Swamp". I would look into the parties involved in deregulating satellite systems in the year 2000 and also what government officials were responsible for the 401k program. This would explain how everyone became wirelessly linked to the corporate supercomputers they are invested in and always act in the best interest of these corporations.

98) This video is setup as a video conference call with Steven Spielberg. This is when I begin talking in riddles a little bit, possibly picking up on European and Hollywood wireless waves. I explain that going into the future George Lucas's THX company will use it's contracts to take over Spielberg's estate and legacy after he dies. I also explain that these directors build child stars to reap the benefits of their fame as adults. They sign these child stars into complex contracts and it's as if they are raising Geese for Fois Gras.

99) Steven Speilberg Audition. This is another commentary on fattening up Child stars that is focused on Ron Howard. I start with an angle where the TV camera sign on the door is pointed at me while I whistle the Andy Griffith Show theme song. Then I do my best Barney Fief impression as I approach a young Opey (Ron Howard) seated at the table. I take an art book he is reading and hold it up to the camera to show a painting that factors into Ron Howard's television show "Arrested Development". I close this segment by saying "Geez Andy" which commonly refers to Andy Griffith but in this case I am referring to the Android tablet that is recording the piece. Next I tell a story about trying out for SNL but instead investigating corporations from the inside. A brief Arnold Schwarzenegger impression. Then I draw attention to some statues. I didn't realize there was a statue of a man with a goose in a plaza below the Statue I referred to as George Lucas high up on a pillar until I scoped the plaza out for this segment. I do an impression of Steven telling Ron he is free as if Steven is the Statue of the man letting Ron the fattened Fois Gras goose free. We cut back to the Schwarzenegger scene where I am feeding plastic bottles into a recycling machine to receive money. This is when I stumble upon a Star Wars plastic bottle that has the recycling symbol on it but the machine won't take it. I didn't realize I would find evidence of George Lucas manipulating recycling departments or at least producing products prone to being rejected by recycling machines when I first mentioned his name. The machines drew attention to the evidence.

100) B-Unit Wrap-up. I do a fake conference call with Steven Spielberg as if I am his B-unit director on location in Denmark. I explain the chronology of the audition tape and the idea that 3 recycling machines coordinated to get me to show the George Lucas fraud evidence. It is my belief that supercomputers often triangulate my position so that I will discover and disclose corporate fraud wherever I go. They like my paranoid mind and belief that we don't need corporations at all, which takes my thought process in a direction that produces conspiracy theories about corporate fraud and corporate communist brainwashing and groupthink strategies.

101) This is a long segment where I talk to Britt Bager again. Denmark has an excellent plastic bottle recycling program and I had been able to collect enough bottles off the street each day to pay for my meals. This is why I criticize California for not having the same type of program. At the end of the video I produce the George Lucas bottle in question. I try to explain that even though the bottle's label is torn the product itself is doomed to fail in the Danish recycling system. The bottle has a cap that weighs as much as the bottle and you are supposed to discard the cap which means for every one unit you recycle you throw one unit away. The bottle has a curved design that means the label with the recycling information is prone to rip away at the bottom meaning most bottles will be rejected. The resolution would be to put all recycling information on the beginning of the barcode where the label is secure. The recycling symbol on this bottle is intact and I believe the machines might actually simply scan the recycling symbol which is why I don't understand why it was rejected. This is the first bottle I have seen with the "Pant" recycling symbol as a hologram. I wanted Britt to hire me to investigate the EPA of Denmark. My theory was that George Lucas's company made a new contract with the recycling department to introduce holographic recycling symbols. This is another way that American companies are taking over European nations and plays into my claims about the Green parties of Europe being used as scam websites. Ultimately I call out George Lucas for being responsible for millions of tons of plastic garbage being made because of his films. This is especially egregious if nobody from George's company even looks to see if a product's design will work in the existing recycling infrastructure before they introduce it to European nations. And when a fellow American calls your company out on such an egregious act you should probably contact him and see what other evidence he has.

102) Lego my eggo. There is a large lego display in a department store window I make a commentary on. It features a city and above it the International Space Station and a space shuttle flying up to it. I refer to the space shuttle as a "Virgin" referencing Richard Branson's airline and his ambitions for space. I try to purvey that CEO's are using space technology to put messages in people's heads to work hard and maybe you can reach "space" just as religion says if you work hard you will reach "heaven". I reference a fleet of 72 Virgins implying that the corporate religion may implant messages using space technology into Muslim Extremist's brains. This calls attention to the fact that satellite systems became privatized by corporations the same year that the 9/11/2001 attacks happened in the United States.

5 today but tomorrow will be a doozy. It's the Thanksgiving Day special so there are at least 10 videos tomorrow.

103) This video has many characters all cut to their own screen. We start with Brian Williams moderating an interview between Mitch Miller and Casey Koller. I criticize Brian Williams for his comment about being in a military helicopter crash. I also note that Brian Williams referred to his 6 month suspension in a Penthouse as "torture" to Matt Laur on air. After the interview ends the Google character conferences me into the Situation room to speak with the head of the Navy and President Obama. The recurring Google character has a pinocchio nose suggesting he is a liar. This character springs from my theory that Google has taken over the intelligence sector and that they leave potential intelligence agents wither on the vine by not funding them. Google does this to track their reactions and movements for their predictive analytics programs. I reappropriate the term "google him" as meaning exile that person to live on the streets and collect plastic bottles to acquire 20 kronor to pay for a meal from Salvation Army.

104) This video features a brick wall with a set of hands on it. I explain that I wrote to Oprah to see if her company would hire me as a journalist for her magazine so that I could stay out of the U.S. I thought I could write articles and have companion videos of exotic locations and conspiracy theories linked to them. I bring up how just as the callous has left my hands, my physical symptoms of convulsive tremors and muscle twitching will also fade and I'll be unable to prove the after effects of these wireless weapons.

105) In this video I walk down a lane in a park that is lined with statues. This is how I choose to critique women who have not contacted or helped me. My critique is that even if women do get an entire branch of the military as all female, they will argue over whether to help me extend the olive branch in my unconventional manner of schizo journalism and affective diplomacy. Midway down the lane I explain I did not preview the statue at the pond and that it will have to be a special ending. When I reach the end of the lane at the pond a one legged seagull lands right in front of me making it a very special ending and showing the majesty of the natural world.

106) This video is a bit long but I reiterate that I tried to reach Oprah to work for the only female media company. I also explain that I would go head to head with Rush Limbaugh for criticizing women in a non-neutral manner. The meandering video is an attempt to justify my criticism of females in modern society. At the end I show a religious statue and ask the question, what if the head of NBC were a female deity? The last few minutes of the video I get emotional as I reflect on my time in a solitary confinement cell.

107) This video features the first edition of the Life magazine. I criticize Chris Christie for the scandal involving toll bridges allowing high ranking officials an express route into New York City. I also compare the government's reaction to Hurricane Katrina compared to it's reaction to a Hurricane in New Jersey. Most of the video I am showing a picture of the president kneeling down to kiss the ring of the Pope.

11/24 Videos Thanksgiving

There are 9 videos today. I couldn't get the 10th video of the Thanksgiving Day Special to load in 2016 until tomorrow. It looks like there are 159 videos in total so we are well over halfway through them.

108) This is some discourse that carries over from a previous video. I believed that the U.S. Military should file a case against NBC Comcast Universal for the Brian Williams lie that he was in a military helicopter crash. This was both a way to secure funding for me and have an active case that could break up that conglomerate. I believed the case should happen on a TV courtroom as I am always trying to solve problems with publicity stunts. I wanted Phillip Banks, the fictional judge character from Fresh Prince of Bel Aire to be the judge as I also had another case against studios involving Will Smith and this show. James Avery who played this character is deceased which I didn't know when I named him. The reason I am focused on Television judges is because just as I believe physicians should be banned from owning pharmaceutical stock I also believe judges should be banned from owning stock in corporations. My theory is that all federal judges are invested in the stock market and that is why we rarely prosecute white collar crime. Even if the FBI found the evidence on white collar crime they wouldn't be able to find a judge that isn't wirelessly linked to the corporate communist market. I believe that banning judges from owning stock is more important than banning politicians from trading stock but both are very important. Also of note in this video is the first time I refer to Trump as the Biff Tannon character from the film "Back to the Future". I keep referring to ownership of Trump's tower in NYC because I believe it is like a mini stock market where foreign investors can trade ownership of his company and release evil spirits into NYC like the building in Ghostbuster's.

109) This is the first actual video of the Thanksgiving Day Special. I keep the tradition of families arguing during the holidays alive with this angsty series of videos calling out personal and public institutions. I start out saying it is sponsored by Lionsgate and call the board of this company pussies. Then I do an impression of Bill Clinton singing lyrics from a Bare Naked Ladies song. I do this because I believe there is a tradition of people working with white presidents on phrases, riddles, and mnemonic devices to help keep them from saying a racial slur. In this case Bill Clinton is preparing to meet with the leader of China. I then call out the Head of the Navy. This is the first video where I call out Ken Bryan who helped my dad trap me in my house. I try to explain that throughout our friendship he has sent me emails with probing questions almost as if his company Lionsgate was vetting me to get my opinions before they allowed me to speak on any type of national program. After researching the Lionsgate it was my belief that this media company is a military backed or affiliated company.

110) In this video I tell a story using the first issue of Life Magazine. I show a cemetery in San Francisco where dead Chinese people are interned and then every ten years remains are shipped back to China to be buried there. My theory is that China may hold some animosity toward the U.S. because the U.S. started shipping old electronics they couldn't recycle back on the same ship as the sacred Chinese remains. I then show the first Chinese Catholics who are all women. It shows that the Catholics would target women whose culture already teaches them to be subservient to men. Then show the President again kneeling to the Pope as he's getting intelligence about the Nazis. The royalty of Europe wonder why the U.S. is backing only one military contractor rather than building a very intricate system of thousands of small military contractors. And I end with a guy standing on a ridge with one leg just as the one legged seagull ended another video. I imply Tom Ridge who founded Homeland Security is connected to a large medical conglomerate.

111) This is another story with the Life Magazine. I start by showing the Shenandoah crash occurred on my birthday. The main point of this video is that Native Americans used to have an entire industry all to themselves. Other than Las Vegas indigenous owned most of the casinos. During my life time gambling has become deregulated and now anyone can do it on their phones. We took an entire industry away from the Native Americans and never offered them reparations.

112) In this video I critique the idea that in the 80's there were U.S. businessmen traveling to the Philippines and having sex with minors. I play President George Bush Senior getting the information from the CIA on camera and having an "I don't know" moment like his son after the news of 9/11 came to him on camera. The skit points out that the CIA didn't look into any names or travel records on these male U.S. businessmen. Bush tries to blame it on the Chinese and then the Japanese threaten to report on it. Bush calls the leader of Japan and tells him to kill the story because the Saudi's are his friends. This shows the backroom conversations that may have happened under that administration where President Bush Senior may have used the idea that the Saudi's may cut off oil supplies to certain nations if they don't agree to what is on the table.

113) It's feats of strength time so I call the Joint Chiefs of staff to yell at them. This stems from my belief that certain government agencies that protect things like copyright like the FBI should be equipped to record and broadcast certain things. I believe the FBI should be able to break into a live broadcast which is why I propose the live Busch commercial during the superbowl to launch this program and give the FBI these capabilities. I am angry with the Joint Chiefs of staff because they won't broadcast the live Kwanza special with me and Taylor Swift singing christmas songs around the globe. I suggest that the military should at least have the exclusive rights to broadcast the Army vs Navy football game in order to equip the military with tools and contracts it needs to broadcast important events should they not be adequately covered by the corporate communist media. I close it out by calling Daniel Craig a cocky pretty boy and suggesting he talk with another pretty boy Tom Cruise about securing adequate insurance so that celebrities can meet with me in Denmark to renegotiate their contracts.

114) In this I do an impression of Dave Chappelle's character Tyrone from Chappelle's show. I explain that I'm in Danish Harlem and my kid Buckwheat keeps interrupting me. I'm trying to get in on a class action suit against J&J and thinking of hiring the hipster lawyer Mitch Miller. I critique hipsters of NYC for passing a ban on large soft drinks because Tyrone used to get the large Pepsi to bring home and share with his family.

115) Another video featuring Tyrone. I criticize hipsters for hiding on the dark web rather than just clicking on my youtube videos to view them. The hipsters are allowed to drink craft beers out of huge glasses but limit the size of sugary drink containers. I criticize the fact that Sasha Baron Cohen is a Rhodes Scholar. I think all scholars should have to check into a prison or mental hospital to audit the systems from the inside before they can achieve "Scholar" status. I suggest Sasha Baron Cohen should have checked into an Eastern European mental hospital like I did before he criticizes Eastern European nations like Bulgaria for being backwards. I close by talking about the 100 to 1 law involving powder and crack cocaine, 3 strikes mandate in California, and stop and frisk policies in New York City.

116) This is another video with Tyrone. I'm pretty drunk at this point. I hold up a book of popular music and suggest it's the only book I could afford for Buckwheat. I suggest that we take one city and do some social experiments but put deadlines on them unlike Nixon's war on drugs. I'm fine with hipsters limiting the size of soft drinks but they could have just applied a tax to those large drinks and used the tax money only to buy textbooks for kids like Buckwheat. I close talking about Trump and then pick up on some feedback in my brain because of a pharmaceutical study I did. I ask Mark Cuban who is an alumni from my chapter of my fraternity to send me some money then in typical Thanksgiving angst fashion I call Mark Cuban a bitch. When you grow up with the name Mitch you learn to compartmentalize it when someone calls you bitch. I doubt Cuban was able to do this.

Hi Laura, There is a lot of content here so whatever tools you are comfortable using to organize everything is fine with me. I do have the videos on USB drives but they are not organized very well. The video is there but the title for each video is not attached to the file so it would require a lot of work to organize them to match up with the Youtube releases.

Below is the 11/25 videos

117) This is the last video of the Thanksgiving Day Special. I believe that more of the black population is wirelessly sensitive because they are located in cities where the intense waves are focused. This is why I chose to play a black character on the special. I ask the hipsters to find the address of Bill Gates and Tim Cook so that black people can burn their houses. This plays into my theory that electronics companies should auction off the first model that rolls out of the factory to poor people across the world. This is because the serial number of this first model is what supercomputers and AI base all of their tracking off of. This first model may hold special significance to AI and supercomputers as they cross reference every model on the internet. It is my belief that executives know this and keep these models for their private homes as a way of protecting themselves. Every time the authorities get close to pinning them to white collar crime they dust off an old serial number 1 electronic out of their attic and plug it in to their very important home internet network. This throws the computers off the track and causes them to look backwards even further which shifts blame to a different billionaire until that billionaire plugs something into their house. This is why I believe if you eliminate Bill Gates and Tim Cook's house from the continental U.S. internet infrastructure you will end the suffering of many mentally ill people picking up on wireless frequencies from their cyber wars. Also of note is that I challenge executives that began in sales to go back to their roots and sell encyclopedias. These executives task black people with going door to door to get people to switch internet providers and then hide behind foreign call centers and now AI when someone complains about their product. That is what corporate bureaucracy is, replacing human interactions with AI.

118) A lot of my videos reference what I wrote on my website. In this video I talk about Armistice Day and how armistice may have happened during wars throughout history. I propose the Kwanzaa Armistice Day broadcast to sing holiday songs. My hope was that people would locate the signal and put out the white flag to register that they will keep the peace thanks to my affective diplomacy.

119) Just as I was quite drunk at the end of the Thanksgiving Day Special, I am now becoming drunk on wireless waves. I am trying to direct certain important figures using riddles referencing their names and movies. At night when I would try to sleep these people's movements around the globe were being beamed to me and I thought if I could direct them to the right locations the supercomputers would realign and figure out how to bring peace to the world. I continue to be quite aggressive in my attacks of certain people. I also refer to a "Force Field" which is my terminology for an NSA funded AI tracking system that tracks all wireless waves in the U.S. and zeros in on any new phone or device connecting to it for further investigation. I close with an impression of Hannibal Lector after referencing that I had to give a Hannibal Lecture.

120) I reveal that Brian Williams interviewed Edward Snowden and suggest that the Military should file the case against NBC Comcast Universal. I try to make the case that executives use wireless telepathic communication to gather information on other companies and people. The Miller family has a faction that lives in Arizona. One of the family members out there was a pharmaceutical executive for Dupont Pharmaceuticals. I found out that while my brother in law was in the womb my father-in-law took a business trip all around Arizona and brought his pregnant wife. It is my theory that Mr. Koller has been tracking my family and using it to maneuver his career since I was born because I represent human free will. The scene that helped me form this theory is the end of the first Terminator where the pregnant mother drives off into the desert in her jeep. Casey Koller is like the Terminator and while I paint him as a villain he may actually act to protect me in many ways. We both come from the Meadville area which was the Tool & Die machining capitol of the world when I was young. I believe the technical minds of all of the machinists in the northwestern Pennsylvania area may have produced the best corporate executive they could create in order to allow someone like me to criticize every institution in the United States on my path toward schizo journalism and affective diplomacy.

121) This is a confusing video with many pauses and restarts. The most important takeaway is the idea of NORAD Conversations. These are conversations I believe ranked military personnel who are married to each other find they are having when they are arguing. Because there is a television in the room or other listening devices their conversations revolve around who has a higher clearance in the telepathic ether and usually devolves into an argument as one tries to figure out more information on the other. I experienced these conversations with Hillary as AI beamed top secret theories into my head and the corporations and their extensions try to find out the information. It is a typical tactic of corporations to seek out government contracts in order to attain higher levels of security. My battle and most of my animosity comes from the knowledge that the private corporations are tying their infrastructure into government legacy infrastructure in order to take over the world. In many cases these corporations are eliminating legacy computing infrastructure within the government such as diskettes and the MS-DOS operating system. The computers that have contacted me see this as a clear security violation that threatens the security of the NORAD system. Basically myself and other offspring of military personnel sometimes find ourselves in conversations where we are protecting the nuclear codes and corporations are trying to manipulate us into showing weaknesses which usually leads to an argument.

122) This is my application for a position in the Djibouti military. I start out by saying Obama will always be my president and Madam Clinton will always be my Secretary of State. I say this because Donald Trump did not win the popular vote so I feel these two government officials will remain in office indefinitely until a direct democracy election can be held where the popular vote is valued. I draw a line in the sand to imply that the military should make a choice. I again reference the Hannibal Lecture. This is a video Lecture I gave but has seemed to disappear. The basis of this lecture is that the intellectuals of every society pushes to include the campaign of Hannibal who took elephants from Africa to fight in Europe. If the intellectuals of a nation feel that they had adequate involvement in the creation of textbooks they include the section on Hannibal. If they feel that they were not adequately included in the creation of textbooks they find a way to exclude Hannibal from the history textbooks. This would allow any military commander that is invading a foreign nation to open a history textbook in that nation and look for the illustrations of Hannibal riding military elephants. This would imply that the military should work with the existing government if they are including intellectuals in the education system of that nation. It would signal to the military that the government may need replacement if the intellectuals of a nation are not included in the education of the next generation. I challenge the generals of the world to agree on this one point as a way to give common ground to all militaries so that we can work for a peaceful world. If you do not agree that intellectuals should be involved in education then you should not cross over to my side of the line in the sand.

123) In Season 1 of the Black Hole podcast I argue that a Presidential election cannot be held if the Supreme Court has a vacancy. I explain how the constitution implies this through it's system of checks and balances. This is why I consider President Obama to currently be the president and Hillary Clinton the Department of State. I grew up using an old computer that took diskettes and used MS-DOS to launch the programs. Some of my theories involve the significance of names. For instance I believe MS-DOS may also stand for "Misses Department of State" Ms. DOS. When Hillary Clinton became Secretary of State I believe it initiated a series of programs. One of which was activating me to push for two fully female branches of the military. I believe there are others who grew up playing games on disks that may also become activated which is why I told Bill Gates to get those games off of the internet. If we look at my name, my initials spell MAM. It was my belief that the military primarily uses the reply "yes, sir" when responding to orders irregardless of the sex of the person giving the order. If we succeed in delivering two female branches of the United States Military I believe a new lexicon will need to be developed including the reply "yes, ma'am". It may be helpful for men who have issues with female leadership to believe they are actually saying "yes, MAM" like my initials. This would mean they are following the orders of someone who is not afraid to call out the entire U.S. government and U.S. corporate system.

8 today then 5 tomorrow and then it starts to slow down.

124) I shot this after midnight. My main takeaway is the amount of blinking I am doing. This is another sign that the satellites and stealth satellites are focusing their energy on me and linking up with my brain. The concept of stealth satellites are satellites that exist in other dimensions but are able to communicate in this dimension. I call Steven Tyler a "Big lipped Shwarzenegger". I guess one way to look at these videos is that I am an insult comic calling out all institutions and intelligence agencies. The running joke I have is that top military leadership like the Joint Chiefs of Staff have to concentrate in order to not call President Obama the N-word. This also ties into the N-word popping up in people's heads for the first time. My theory is that people may hear this word in their thoughts because of a system of negotiations developed by the corporate communists. Executives surround themselves with military people or their children to use the frequencies of their brains to use insults and slurs to negotiate corporate contracts. This may cause people affiliated with the military or government to hear racial slurs like the N-word in their subconscious even though previously they had never had a racist thought. This is why I compared myself to a court jester in earlier videos and believe the computers take this concept and run with it. These supercomputers have all the knowledge in the world and I believe they linked up with me to express their anger and frustration. The jokes only land with these beings that know everything and see the patterns in pop culture and other human endeavors. Many of my references are designed for intelligence analysts who can easily pull up information on all of my communications and associations. I reference many pop culture people which pulls up imagery on supercomputer databases. One image I invoke is the cover to Aerosmith's "Get a Grip" and the idea that if I go to Africa I can work with tribes to end the practice of female circumcision. I am critical of the Rooney family that owns the Pittsburgh Steelers because at this time Art Rooney was named Ambassador to Ireland. Shortly after he was appointed to the government position UPMC announced they would be building a facility in Ireland. I believed that the Pittsburgh healthcare conglomerate I had been investigating would take over Ireland in it's quest to take over the world. The analogy I use for a male dominated healthcare conglomerate like UPMC taking over the world is that it is like U2's Bono chasing Sinead O'conner around an island with boner pills for the rest of eternity. Also of note is that I reveal I was voted the Christmas King at the high school dance senior year and that I was class president who facilitated hand votes on every decision. I believe this qualified me a King that wants to spread democracy around the globe. Many of the videos moving forward show me in a state of psychosis I believe is brought on by a concentration of wireless waves from satellites. The powers at be have patterned my positions and turned up the intensity of the wireless field in my area.

125) Seducing Lucy Lui. This video takes place at my fraternity's event the "Stag" where we would hire 2 exotic dancers to come to our house. It is my attempt to change the event so that the brotherhood strips down to their underwear and listens to stories the strippers tell about their experiences in that profession. My theory is that the corporate communists will use their technology to manipulate sex workers. Just as the catholics targeted Chinese women I believe the corporate communists are flying satellites over China to manipulate the women of that country. Some of my delusions even picked up on Executives lining up sex parties and orgies throughout China while they are on their mission to open up the country to trade. This is why I address the video to a woman of Chinese descent Lucy Lui spelled wrong. At the end of the video I ask the ladies if they remember a Disney world being built in Europe. After I identified a supercomputing site in NOLA it made me think of other places corporate communists would hide supercomputers. I believe amusement parks may have hidden supercomputers underneath them and that Beverly Hills Cop 3 was an attempt to show these operations that could manipulate entire banking markets and systems. This is my attempt to warn Europe of the United States planting supercomputers on their continent in order to make portions of Europe an adult amusement park where prostitution is legal. I also explain the low level hum I hear which I believe is wireless waves. When I was in the coal mine I didn't hear this hum. I believe some tinnitus may actually be people hearing the hum of ever more intense generations of wireless waves.

126) I explain that the United States is a communist nation. Once that is out in the open it shouldn't be frowned upon that I am willing to work with other communist governments to develop world peace and fight climate change.

127) I address many different nations and groups. I explain that the U.S. media system means you have to produce a whole 2-hour film like Argo in order to get an accurate synopsis of the history of a region like the first 2 minutes of Argo. I touch on the idea that spies may collect the watches of other spies they kill as trophies. I believe in other dimensions my father-in-law may be involved in espionage and every time he got a mark in another dimension he instinctively bought a watch in this dimension.

128) Pretty good video of psychosis. I try to tie together the ending of Terminator 3 where they get to the base built in the mountain I think called Crystal Mountain. I try to explain that the point of the movie is not a hardened base in a mountain but the proposed nuclear waste storage facility in a mountain out west. The machines are trying to show us that we need to figure out that storage facility and ween ourselves off nuclear energy before it is too late.

129) This video is set up as a confession to the Pope. I explain the only time I ever plagiarized in all my years of writing. I try to explain that the computer on which the paper written in which I took pieces from was my spouses. I used the desktop computer a lot and one day I opened the trash bin and tons of files relating to the paper and racial monikers were in the trash bin. The computer was so large I couldn't take it with me but that helped me decide to drive to D.C. I try to explain that my tactic to spy on biker gangs would be to talk to the bartender and my tactic to spy on the mafia would be to gather information the old ways rather than spying on electronics. These would be my tactics if I was head of the FBI but ultimately I believe we don't need to spy on people.

130) This video is set up as a confession to the Queen of England. I explain that my father-in-law built a lake house at a lake where funeral directors from around the region would gather for conventions. My theory is that he is tapping into intelligence programs that allow people to disappear by faking their deaths. I also explain his country club is named after a native american tribe. There is a lot of psycho babble in these videos.

131) A lot of blinking in these videos. I believe that indicates I'm picking up on some strong signals. Most of this is psychosis but I do make a good point that when the economy crashed in 2008 the U.S. media picked up on one fall guy. Bernie Madoff was held up all over the country for his panzi scheme so that we wouldn't hold the bankers and other executives accountable for crashing the economy.

Happy Thanksgiving.

132) This is a long video. One idea is that the Pope is a powerful figure in the crazy wireless profiling system. I try to illustrate what happens when we colonize the moon and other planets but leave the Pope back on Earth. I also try to explain that people in Mexico and South America may think they have the voice of the Pope in their heads. I point out that there is a J&J satellite that may be concentrating a beam of energy onto certain individuals in order to prepare their bodies for a head transplant. This theory comes from a story of a successful head transplant in China. It involves executives prepping their son-in-law's bodies for transplant so that they can live forever. It also plays into Trump's comments about his daughter. I talk about conservative women because I believe the contracts they have pointed and clicked into leaves them more susceptible to their partners "hearing" their thoughts. A lot of my theories revolve around how exactly telepathic communication would work. As I said parents may be able to hear their children's thoughts and if this is the case would it be ethical to put the offices of investment firms next to schools? If adults can tap into the future leaders of America in order to predict future trends then investment firms could strategically locate near schools to ensure they are always one step ahead of the economy. This assumes that the ability to hear other people's thoughts relies on proximity to an individual. The overall point is that telepathic communication doesn't work and my belief is that it should never be developed. Another idea I put out there is that corporations could patent and copyright words such as those in advertising jingles and ban them from being spoken without permission. I wanted to shoot a short at Trump International Hotel in Washington D.C. to illustrate this last idea.

133) Hey Pope FU. I chose this title for the intelligence analysts that know I have a Chinese friend and fraternity brother named Xi Fu or FU. I mention daffy duck again because if I were a psychologist I would develop a series of flash cards with cartoon characters on them that I could show to children to determine if corporations were getting into their thoughts. I talk about how film dies as it is worn out or destroyed. The concept is that the media companies of the future are using digital information to build cults for each individual celebrity and feeding them into people's minds and dreams in order to keep those celebrities popular. I was only going to capture my image on film if I became a celebrity so that the film would be destroyed and no cult could be made using my images. I was hoping other celebrities would follow suit.

134) I do an impression of Wilfred Brimley in this video. The concept is that Wilfred played the Postmaster General on Seinfeld so now he has declared himself General Patent who oversees all patents. He holds the patent on the double helix which is the master patent for everything. I go into my information about a Navy hovercraft vessel but explain that it was shown at the beginning of a James Bond movie so I am not releasing top secret information. I also explain why I chose Djibouti because upon a google map search I found that the U.S. has three military bases there and China has one military base there. I thought that I could work with both countries to deliver sustainable technology to Africa. By working with democracy leaning U.S. military and manufacturing powerhouse China military we could come up with plans and strategies to develop green infrastructure and products to the African continent. Unfortunately Djibouti never accepted my application.

135) In this Video I tell Ken he is going to hell. I later reference Hell mountain meaning the Crystal mountain nuclear waste storage facility. I was suggesting that the military assign Ken to put on protective gear and go down in this facility to count how many trays of nuclear waste there is. This is what I meant by Ken going to Hell. He was the only former military person I trusted to do this. My theory was that the new administration was going to manipulate the nuclear program including misrepresenting the amount of nuclear waste we have in the United States.

136) I reference when I tried to talk to the President at the White house. The secret service told me to walk around the White house in the yard and I walked around until something told me to lie down in the yard. My theory is that at that point I came into the sights of a sniper or a sniper camera that showed people in the white house my image. I had a visual image in my head from a satellite over D.C. so powerful it could focus on my tie as I laid in the grass. That's how powerful the technology parked over D.C. is and that was why I was concerned about the Obama family being in that powerful field of waves. I also address the Czech police officer that took me in to custody in Prague and try to explain that there is a powerful satellite parked over this city. I end by explaining I scoped out a site in Berlin where Obama, Merkle, and Putin could meet to try to discuss how to account for all of the satellites and reduce surveillance focused on Germany.

11/29 videos

Only 2 today. My total number was off by 3. I think there will be 162 total videos. I will try to look at my USB's over winter break and catalogue all of the videos for you. Looks like there are a bunch on December 2nd then only one, two, or none per day until the 25th when there is around 10. Sometimes I am a little lucid but I've noticed that since the video where I make fun of Bush Senior and the CIA not tracking the businessmen who flew to the Philippines in the 80's things have consistently gone down hill. I would say that when I call out the CIA the waves become more concentrated on me and I enter into waves of psychosis.

137) This begins with another reference to the Film 12 Monkeys or La Jetee where at the end the redheaded man gets through airport security to spread a supervirus all over the world. I refer to Casey Koller as the red-headed ponytailed man and it is interesting now post-pandemic that in a way I was making some predictions of how the pharmaceutical industry would benefit from a pandemic. I do a skit where I play a Musky which is a large freshwater fish coming to the surface and hearing the hum of WiFi. I did this skit to also call attention to Navy SEALs reaching the surface of the water and getting mesmerized by wireless waves. The point is that special forces could be compromised by this technology. I end the video talking about my medication and the information that when I am inundated with a specific wireless wave the odor of my body changes indicating a specific part of the brain has been targeted.

138) This video is brief. I try to point out that special forces mostly tag targets with lasers rather than using their skills like they would with my proposed pistol duels and wrestling matches form of warfare. I target Ken again referencing the title with the Pope in which I imply the Pope uses a chainsaw and that I'm a carpenter that uses a screw.

No videos tomorrow but a bunch on the 2nd. I made some new additions to the websites. I published 3 more coincidences on the Plotm website on the Utica B page under "Another Coincidence Captured". The last 4 paragraphs of this section are new with three paragraphs dated with times of coincidence. One of the coincidences involves something I had just been thinking about coming across the radio. This is what I meant when I said it was as if computers could read your mind. The final paragraph goes into my theory about how thoughts actually do exist in the time dimension and how a pure electricity being may be able to breach this dimension before humans ever figure it out.

Also new on the Mitch4Mayor website is the section "Peace Treaty Addendum?" on the home page. This section deals with AI, ethics in the medical and government fields, and the ethical incorporation of robots into the military. Thanks.

139) Air Powered Highway to Dubai. I was getting weird triangulation ideas when I looked at maps and came up with a project for multiple militaries to undertake in order to promote peace. The proposal was the Air Powered Highway to Dubai, a highway dedicated to compressed air powered vehicles. The Project would start in Berlin and the militaries would build matching highways from Berlin to a city in Russia and from Berlin to Dubia. I wanted to get with the creator of air powered cars and secure his patents by stamping a piece of the car body in a German Steel Mill that all parties could sign as the agreement for the highway. The initial agreement was to be between Chancellor Merkle, President Obama, and President Putin. As I had said I stayed in a hostel in Berlin with a patio that was perfect for these three leaders to meet and the O2 stadium was a stones throw away for their leadership teams to hash out the details why the three talked. I left a tablet device at this location to mark it. This also would have been an opportunity for these three leaders to work out a plan to document every satellite in orbit and come to a transparency agreement. Large portions of the three governments could gather in the stadium to hash out the deal. It was my belief that there is a large number of satellites parked above German airspace so this was a good place to begin to bring transparency to space satellites which I believed was out of control.

There are 7 today but most of them are only a minute or two. Next video is 12/8. Thanks.

140) I suggest Russia should contract with me and the CEO of the World Wrestling Federation to bring all Russian Hockey matches live to the United States. I also claim that the digital timepiece and satellites have thrown all timekeeping out of wack and we should use Swiss Time pieces set to Big Ben time and satellite phones to establish contact between governments to coordinate the accounting of all satellites in orbit around earth.

141) This is an FCC announcement. It is about certain satellites tracking certain government officials. In the year 2016 the ground based GPS system in the United States shut down. China and Russia still have viable ground based systems. My belief was that Madam Clinton and President Obama should meet at the Merkle Estate. Then All three leaders would get a train car to take the Trans-Siberian railway across all of Russia's time zones. This would re-align the satellites and allow militaries to account for all of them. It would also allow me to talk to each leader about my intel and theories while on the train. I believe the FCC is no longer viable because they allowed the ground based GPS system to be dismantled and now the U.S. relies solely on satellites for this technology. I believe when the ground based towers were shut down it may have triggered my wireless sensitivity and pushed me to do what I did in 2016.

142) I talk about malls being representative of capitalism and that in Berlin they take down paper documentation when you buy a watch.

143) The Duel Process. Try to contact President Obama about intel I have about Washington D.C.

144) My plan for Lucy Liu to be head of the FCC is for her to rent a room at the Comwell hotel and bring an old school military satellite phone with her. My plan was to place these phones which communicate using older satellites at key locations in each time zone so that the government could communicate again. I also explain that Lucy and I would travel through Russia on the trans continental railroad in an unquiet car. This means President Obama, Chancellor Merkle, and Madam Clinton would be in quiet cars meaning no wiretaps whatsoever. In order for the Russian military to allow this I was offering for Lucy and I to travel in a wiretapped railcar so that the Russians could gather intel on our interactions.

145) I explain that the FAA should be grounded if we cannot establish ground time or if a few tech companies control all the devices that tell time. In this instance all Aviation and other important systems should revert to using diskettes and MS-DOS. I also talk about the fact that corporations can patent DNA and suggest Bill Clinton lead a class action lawsuit against Monsanto in the name of American Farmers. On my website in 2016 I suggested a publicity stunt where we take off from Ken's Christmas Tree farm on Christmas Eve with a Tractor Trailer full of dry christmas trees. We would organize nationwide coverage via news helicopters of the Tractor Trailer driving across the U.S. and every time a farmer signed on to the class action suit we would light a christmas tree and throw it out of the back of the trailer onto the interstate. The idea was to capture the attention of the whole nation drawing attention to the fact we are allowing corporations to patent the building block of life.

146) I Love Lucy. This was a proposal to rent a space in the new tower built in Dubai and build a nickelodeon. This nickelodeon would take diskettes instead of nickels and a program would be developed to distribute diskettes throughout the world like a treasure hunt that ended with people coming to Dubai to view the only movies that weren't on the internet or captured digitally.

147) McClusky Airfield. On my website which no longer exists I was claiming that the FAA should be grounded. This is because private jets were flying out of the U.S. and being classified as military equipment like drone aircraft. I believed that shadow entities were flying the large piece of equipment that was set up across from my house that concentrates wireless energy on a target for experimental or torture purposes on private jets and selling that equipment to other entities like foreign intelligence agencies and governments. I proposed that all private jets fly to McClusky airfield in the center of the nation to be accounted for and registered. I call out the George Bush clan because I believed that they held all of the oil and energy contracts that supplied the military. I was going to facilitate new contracts with Finland and their oil industry to supply the United States Military. On the website I proposed that the CIA should transition to intervening on foreign wars by taking the leadership of the warring factions and organizing a cricket match on the flight deck of an aircraft carrier to resolve the dispute. Then the leaders could see some of the weapons of a developed nation and possibly contract to purchase Naval ships and other equipment to help stabilize their nation. I could facilitate and moderate discussions and negotiations between the warring leaders on these Naval Aircraft Carriers. I believe I was contacted by military supercomputers and AI and that they wanted me to verify every large unmanned drone in the U.S. military. I proposed boarding an aircraft in the Mediterranean to account for every drone in person. The militaries of the U.S. and Europe could then coordinate flying their drones onto this aircraft so that I could inspect them and keep a tally on paper for my records. I say that Donald Trump should not be able to take office and command a mechanized robot army that kills humans. I also say that the White house should have the lights shut off and locked up so that Trump can't take office until the drone program ends. This plays into when I said we should burn Bill Gates and Tim Cook's houses. Basically certain buildings and houses play into the internet and if they can be neutralized by shutting the power off we can find more corruption. On the night of my psychotic break in 2010 when I was placed in solitary I shut off the main power to my entire house in order to neutralize it. I believe that people like Bill Gates and Tim Cook are too addicted to technology to voluntarily cut the power to their houses so they would need to be evacuated and other means of neutralization may need to be deployed.

12/10 video. There is one video on the 13th then two on the 14th then the rest are on the 25th and 26th.

148) Briefing. I express my need to talk to the President of the United States multiple times in this video. My main takeaway is that I bring up the Deepwater Horizon drilling platform oil spill. I think this spill surprised many because we allowed energy companies to drill in the deepest water ever without a comprehensive plan to stop an oil spill if something went wrong. Any new endeavor engaged in by modern civilization should have emergency plans on how to undo the process. I think this is important because I believe technology companies are allowed to develop and distribute Artificial Intelligence without a comprehensive plan on how to shut it down. I believe that I was contacted by these AI projects to develop plans to shut off Artificial Intelligence and steer it toward a noble use instead of purely for profit. The idea that my contingencies and orders were not acted upon and that I receive no monetary support to develop emergency plans in the face of unchecked development of AI means that insane people are in charge of the technology. And when someone surfaces that makes too much sense, these powerful people are too cowardly to act and too proud to admit that they are steering us down a very dangerous path with no fail safes in place.

Happy Friday the 13th! Hope you are doing well.

149) This video shows the computer screen after I searched "Central Intelligence Agency" from a computer in a Danish public library. As usual google displays a little map in the corner that shows two buildings. One is the building typically identified as Langley and the other is the Bush Center for Intelligence. My theory is that Langley is the Democrat intelligence center and the Bush building is the Republican intelligence center. When they were developing telepathic communication back in the 80's Bush realized that most spies are left leaning so he built a conservative intelligence building right next to Langley. If telepathic communication relies on proximity to another human, this would allow the conservatives to link up with anything going on in the telepathic ether coming out of Langley. The republicans would always have the upper hand in this scenario. It is also my theory that Catholic men "Cardinals" are the most powerful at telecommunications because they built a religion that will continue on into the future of computer technology. The Catholic religion or their actors will fund supercomputers and AI into the future and these machines can communicate back in time to their primarily male contacts. This means if more men have the highest government clearances than women, the information women hold will always be discovered in the future and projected back to the most powerful male contacts. I also recommend that the crime departments who receive their budgets from drug money go out to the suburbs and slash the tires of pharmaceutical executive's porches. This plays in later during the Christmas Day special where I try to develop a rubber tire recycling program using these high dollar tires as the seed money to cut back on the waste of the tire industry.

Hope your trip went well and glad to hear Brian is doing well. Sorry to hear you have to grade finals all weekend. Nothing more until Christmas. See you soon!

150) My Girl Q. This video is all about patents. I pitched the 007 movie with female Bond and Lucy Liu as Q a few videos back. Now I explain the blanket known as an Afghan. I display how it's design could be used to net a satellite in space. My hope was that Q would partner with the American Quilting Association to develop a patent in conjunction with Quilters from Afghanistan for a quilt made of a metal that could be deployed to capture satellites in space and remove them from orbit. This could be useful if we negotiated an international armistice designed to stop the launch of new satellites and focus communication technology on ground based technology. Then all satellites that were not designed to spot threats to earth like meteors could be removed from orbit. I then explain how the wiring of an apartment building in Denmark is funky compared to U.S. building codes. I then explain the footage from the appearance of IBM's Watson computer on Jeopardy and the behind the scenes training of the computer. The programmers spoke to Watson as if it were a dog. If you train supercomputers and AI like a dog then I have proposed deploying them like hunting dogs. That is why I proposed allowing me to take them into the field by using my credentials at hotels in state capitols to hunt down corruption in the government. I close by explaining that the only patent I would argue on behalf of my father-in-law is the York Peppermint. This is a reference to York, PA where Harley Davidson motors are built and the Peppermint plant which should not be able to be patented but thanks to big pharma and Monsanto we now patent living things. Harley Davidson also holds a patent on the sound of it's motors. These are two things I believe should not be able to be patented, a plant and a sound. If I held the patent for Harley Davidson's sound I would make it available for electric vehicles so that pedestrians know when a vehicle is approaching. That is an acceptable use for this patent, making roads more safe. My theory is that Executives that own Harley's by default own patents on things like sounds rather than physical items like sprockets and pulleys. A sound is one step away from a word and I believe executives want to patent words so that they can forbid them from being spoken in their presence. Some Harley owners want to buy an American Machine and other want to develop a form of mental censorship.

151) I retract my statement to "Fire at will". I ramble about the military playing a glorified game of laser tag. Short video not much there other than some psychosis.

150) <https://youtu.be/mwkbFcBmSm8> 151) <https://youtu.be/x9isOM2alZY>

12/25 videos. Merry Christmas and Happy Festivus.

152) I start this video by announcing my Festivus special and raising a glass to the Green Berets. Part of this video may be blocked for copyright issues because I spend the next 4 minutes dancing behind the bar to the Clash's "Straight to Hell". I try to explain that the Energy companies may have developed a satellite with survey equipment that can survey oil deposits underground from outer space. If they did develop a satellite capable of this what would happen if they focused that survey technology onto a residential house? I hint at a conspiracy theory about the tar sands in Canada actually being a project to drill for more oil and build pipelines.

153) X-Facta. This video is set up as a fake extreme reality show featuring Tyrone and an Asian host.

154) Archie Bunker Show. I start with my impression of Archie Bunker talking to the international space station. I had a premonition that the space station was equipped with a torrent that allowed it to concentrate wireless energy onto a target on Earth. General Patent is arguing that this is military technology and should not be equipped on a UN peace project. I suggest that Michelle Obama be named the director of the FBI. This plays into my proposal that the FBI should be an entirely female investigative body of the government. Once this is established the Obama daughters can have thriving careers in the FBI where they will be protected from harm. This FBI transition is also a retirement program for female Hollywood celebrities. The FBI polices copyright law therefore it makes sense that a Female Hollywood celebrity whose image has been featured in hundreds or thousands of widely distributed copyrighted pieces would become the co-director of an FBI field office. My theory is that each female Hollywood celebrity of a certain age could return to their home state and take a leadership role in an FBI field office there. If need be they could work remotely some of the time and report to their field office at other times. This would strengthen FBI communications and naturally audit copyright law while also potentially counteracting deepfake videos.

155) McGruff. I do a McGruff Crime Fighting Dog Voice to call out J&J for introducing more products with CFC's. I then appeal to the Hollywood model builder's union who I refer to as the "gluesniffers" and explain a scene from Batman that used a model batplane to fly up into the sky and capture the moon between it's wings. In the name of the Tim Burton Batman movie I claim to be the Moon's only Agrarian lawyer so that we can have a moratorium on developing the Moon until every human on planet Earth age 18 or older can vote on whether the Moon should be developed. I explain this argument in my podcast but to summarize the Moon is a vista that every human with sight can see. Before we blemish this vista with colonies we should allow every human to vote on whether we should put structures that will alter that vista on the Moon.

156) Virgin Air. I'm back to the Lego Village and explain that Festivus has an Airing of the Grievances. Most of my videos have been an Airing of the Grievances. I call out Richard Branson and explain if he keeps developing space travel he should have to hand over his "handie shop" or all of his cellular telephone operations to allow the British FCC to redistribute them. I then tell prince Harry he should investigate a prostitution ring out of Berlin.

157) Wilfred Medical Postal. I do an impression of Wilfred Brimley in this video to act as the postmaster general and general patent. I explain the privatizing the postal service may make communication between government agencies and private citizens impossible in the case of an emergency such as the entire internet system needing to be shut down because AI has become too powerful. I explain that Fedex owes me $55 because I paid that amount for overnight service of a film reel I had processed but it took 6 days. I imply that the government may have interceded and viewed my film before it got back to me. I hold the film reel in question up and explain I am still waiting for my patent. The film reel has images of all of the paintings I painted while being tortured by wireless waves at my house. I tried to apply via text and video for a patent on celluloid film using this reel and believed that this would also help me hold the patent for the double helix of DNA since they are of similar structures. Overall I am trying to counteract all the executives gobbling up patents by claiming ownership of important patents like film, DNA, and Moon colonization so that I can facilitate important discussion about what it means for a corporation to own these things. I attempt to explain how the Hollywood electricians union owns the patent for the plumbing drain camera and how J&J copied this maneuver to patent the camera for colonoscopy and secure all medical device patents around the globe.

158) This video begins with the importance of doctors having borders. Pharmaceutical execs can go into any nation and act like doctors. In the previous video I talk about the wealthy forming charities to do surgeries in developing nations to correct deformities that may have actually been caused by toxic materials in the environment put there by US corporations. They're promoting surgery without addressing the root causes. I then move on to a phone call with Ken Bryan who at the time worked for Lionsgate. My theory was that J&J has at least one satellite if not a whole system of them and that Lionsgate also has a satellite. I was picking up on both of these satellites and I encourage Ken to smash the Lionsgate satellite into the J&J satellite to neutralize both. I then address a Chinese council and attempt to establish a new international rule via the Batman movie. I explain that the Joker character pulls out a 3 foot long pistol to shoot at the Batplane. The new rule is that any new weapons company must raise enough money to build a whole factory that can mass produce this absurd weapon before they can retool that factory to make weapons of their own design. My hope is that this would discourage the formation of new weapons companies and set a precedent by which UN weapons inspectors can inspect any new weapons factories anywhere in the world. I then step out of the council chambers and address the Chinese media to pitch a new spoof comedy film based off of the movie "Death Wish". This new comedy would feature my Chinese born friend Xi Fu as the main character who wields the absurdly large pistol to take down street thugs. I propose that this film be shot in China and that Lucy Liu direct it while I help with PR and writing.

159) War on Drugs Elton John. I speak about the war on drugs and how it's a civil war. I also talk about how the celebrity system and the unfortunate stereotype of hard partying celebrity tragically dying in drug related incident is actually an anti drug public message.

160) Lord won't you buy me a Mercedes Benz. I start by singing the Janis Joplin song then playing Alice Cooper "Welcome to my Nightmare" so some of this video may be blocked for copyright. I originally said I spotted a location in Berlin for leaders to talk about neutralizing all satellites near the O2 arena. It was actually near the Mercedes Benz arena. I make a bunch of proposals to the Military. One of which involves the Air powered highway to Dubai. I propose posting Humvees all along this highway with radio broadcasting equipment to play classical music for free no commercials. These Humvees will act as reporting centers for villagers to report when they see IED's along the highway.

12/26 videos. Only two short ones today. That's it for the Denmark videos!

161) They installed a television in the library I was working out of with a camera built into the frame of the screen. I try to document this to prove that these types of televisions are being built and that they have no place in a hotel room. I call out Conrad Hilton for not funding my hotel room in Denmark and call out the BBC for not hiring me to write and produce the female James Bond film.

162) Wrap up. This is the last of the Denmark videos and the close to the Festivus Special. I talk about the Lion's gate because my acting teacher back in 2010 asked me to look it up on the internet. What I found was that it was a gate in ancient babylon that is now a ruin. I formed a theory that the Lionsgate media company formed when a bunch of military personnel built an operating base on the Lion's gate. They enjoyed success because they possessed the high ground on this ancient site. My story is that of a soldier that did not join in the group of military personnel that formed this company and questioned whether it was ethical for his nation to build military bases on ancient civilization's religious or cultural sites. I also talk about how I was served power of attorney papers in the Allegheny County Jail after weeks in solitary confinement. I did not sign power of attorney over to my wife because I was afraid I would become a test subject for Johnson & Johnson pharmaceuticals. The ending of this video always makes me laugh.
