

Me for President

Being a president is a pretty hard job. I believe that I would make a good president. There are a lot of things that would make me a good president.

The first quality that I have that would make me a good president is that I am smart. I make good grades at school. I try to always make good choices. I also make an effort to listen to my teachers. I do my best to follow all rules.

The next quality I have is that I am loyal. I try to always be fair to others. I treat people as I would want to be treated. I also strive to be a good friend. I am a loyal citizen to my country.

The last quality that I have that would make me a good president is my desire to make a difference. I could help those in need. I could help raise money for improvements to my town. One thing would be helping to make our roads better. I would also help create jobs for people that are unemployed.

As you can see, I have many qualities that would make me a good president. I am smart. I am loyal. I want to make a difference. Maybe one day in the future I will become president.
