

Keeping children and vulnerable adults safe.

Chrysalis Education is committed to the safeguarding of children and adults with care and support needs, ensuring their well-being. We believe every child and adult should be valued, safe and happy.

We recognise that this is a responsibility shared by everyone within our company and those associated with us. This is reflected in all our policies and procedures.

Dianne Allsup is our Designated Safeguarding Lead.

Chrysalis Education is a member of Thirtyone:eight who are available to provide 24/7 advice/help should any matters of concern arise.

Our safeguarding policy is available on the front page of our website, together with a link to Thirtyone:eight so they can be contacted directly if needed.

Who we are:

We believe every person is unique with a bright future ahead of them.

Our aim is to see each individual happy and thriving as they build on their strengths and work towards their potential.

Through consultation and training, we support schools and other agencies to enhance their understanding of, and provision for, those with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities. We also work directly with individuals and their families.

Taking a thorough approach our advice, support, assessment methods and tutoring, address the individual needs of children and adults within the home and learning environments.

All our staff are highly qualified, fully insured and equipped with current DBS and safeguarding training. The company's working practices are fully GDPR compliant.

What we do:

We specialise in assessing, teaching and supporting a range of learning needs.

As AMBDA qualified assessors with Assessment Practicing Certificates, we are qualified to diagnose dyslexia and dyscalculia. We provide this diagnosis in a life-long report.

We do not diagnose medical conditions such as ASD, ADHD or DLD, but in our reports we describe our observations, offer recommendations for home/school and suggest any relevant referral pathways.

We will work with your child to improve literacy, mathematics and study skills. All teaching is bespoke to the specific learning needs of the individual. When a tutoring relationship is established, we are able to support other developmental needs. We also attend meetings in schools if requested.

We work closely with schools whenever possible and advise on strategies that could help a child in their learning. Where appropriate we suggest other professionals who we think may benefit your child.
