

Braver Angels and F.A.I.R Present

Skills for Conversations About Public Policy & Race

Improve skills for listening to others and expressing your own views on race and public policy.

You Will Learn . . .

- 1 Skills for having more productive conversations about contentious policy issues related to race.
- 2 How to understand the core values and principles of those who differ from you on public policy issues connected to race in America.

Who should attend?

There are many kinds of workshops dealing with race. Note that Braver Angels focuses on divisions over public policy. This workshop is not an in-depth discussion of race relations and racial identity in America. The workshop is for those who:

- Want to learn to communicate more effectively about race and public policy with people who differ from them politically
- Believe in the equal worth and dignity of persons of all races
- Are prepared to listen, learn, and practice skills rather than criticize, instruct, or try to enlighten participants with different views

About the Sponsors

Braver Angels seeks to depolarize American politics through grassroots organizing. Our volunteer leaders (supported by a small staff) leverage Braver Angels programs and unique organizing structure to impact community life and American institutions.

FAIR believes we must insist on our common humanity, that we are each entitled to equality under the law. FAIR seeks to bring about a world in which we are all judged by the content of our character and not by the color of our skin.
